Freedom Near For Apollo 11 Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Doctors plan today to take final blood samples from the Apollo 11 astronauts to determine whether the spacemen are free to leave their quarantine quarters.

If astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins are as healthy as they look, they'll be released from isolation late Sunday or early Monday.

The 21-day quarantine period, which began the day Armstrong and Aldrin closed the hatch of the lunar landing vehicle on the moon, normally would end at 2 a.m. EDT Monday.

The decision on early departure will be up to the International Agency for Back Contamination, the group which set the quarantine period. Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' chief physician, will report to the committee members Sunday.

Berry will review the condition of the Apollo 11 pilots and the findings made during the examination of the rocks they brought back. No harmful organisms have been discovered in the moon soil.

Dr. Charles Fischer, space agency doctor isolated with the astronauts, reported: "We're highly encouraged with what we've seen so far. Everyone appears in excellent health."

Two previous blood samples taken from the astronauts showed nothing unusual.

The astronauts spent most of Friday working on the pilots report of their historic mission in which Armstrong and Aldrin spent nearly 22 hours on the moon. They also looked at films of the flight and saw a movie, "The Chairman of the Board."

After their release, they will spend a day with their families. On Tuesday, they will hold a news conference here and then will start a whirlwind round of festivities honoring their feat.

They have a full day Wednesday, with ticker tape parades in New York and Chicago and a state dinner in Los Angeles hosted by President Nixon.

Sun Satellite Put In Orbit From Florida

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new solar observatory successfully rocketed into orbit today, poised to zoom in telescope eyes on more than 16,000 points around the sun's seething surface for closeup studies of solar flares and sunspots.

Called OSO 6 for the sixth orbiting solar observatory, the $12 million spacecraft bolted away from Cape Kennedy at 3:52 a.m. EDT atop a fiery Delta rocket.

Ninety minutes later, launch director Dr. Robert H. Gray confirmed that the spacecraft "achieved close to a normal orbit"—a near-circular path 350 miles high.

Satellite sensors successfully fixed on the sun and "the spacecraft appears to be working satisfactorily," said Robert Davis, assistant OSO project manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center.

A secondary experiment that hitchhiked a ride aboard the upper stage of the two-stage Delta rocket also appeared to be working well, officials said.

Called PAC for passive attitude control experiment, the device was to automatically maintain the orbiting second stage in a stable position after OSO 6 separated from it to see if future rocket stages could serve as platforms for earth- or star-observation sensors.

With the launch occurring during a period of near-peak flare activity in the sun's 11-year solar cycle, the satellite could lead to the best understanding yet of solar radiation storms that disrupt radio communications on earth and are a potential hazard to moon-bound astronauts.

Ohio Assembly OKs Major Bills, Adjourns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 108th Ohio General Assembly which historians probably will view as one of the most unpredictable and controversial in recent years, finally came to an end Friday.

Adjournment came after both houses passed the $2.27 billion education-tax bill, a beefed-up "black lung" measure and a $414.7 million capital improvements package.

Eleventh-hour action on money matters is typical of a legislature.

But lawmakers were unpredictable in some other areas.

In addition to bucking the Republican administration in several instances, the GOP-controlled legislature approved such controversial measures as Sunday liquor sales and water fluoridation.

In both cases, however, legislators left final approval with the voters.

The education bill raises $191.7 million in new taxes, provides $1.85 billion for operating costs of education from kindergarten through college and sinks $418 million into construction.

Among provisions included in the bill were:

—A legislative study of Area Resource Centers and enactment of a law to establish two pilot centers by June 30, 1970, at the latest.

—A guarantee that school districts in 29 counties facing reappraisal receive the same amount of state money even if tax evaluations rise.

—A requirement that local school districts pay about $250,000 more than is now paid to county departments of education to operate special education programs for some 700,000 students.

—A requirement that the Board of Regents approve all tuition and fee increases. Tuition may not be raised to more than $160 a quarter.

—In the case of equalization of property tax evaluations, school districts would not receive any increase in their operating levies.

—A requirement that school districts, which would have to raise teachers' salaries to meet minimum salary schedules in the bill, would have to use part of their state money to raise the salaries on non-teaching employees.

The "black lung" bill putting Ohio coal miners under the state's workmen's compensation laws was strengthened by a joint House-Senate committee.

Mansfield Says Pentagon Stalling On Troop Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says disapproval of the Pentagon may be behind the laggard pace of the Vietnam troop withdrawal ordered by President Nixon.

And Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said he suspects the Department of Defense has refused to let even the State Department have the text of an agreement with Thailand which "could very well involve us in another Vietnam-type war."

The troop withdrawal question and the top secret agreement came up in the Senate Friday.

Fulbright and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had complained that the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam has increased despite Nixon's announcement of a 25,000 man withdrawal. It was to have been completed by the end of August, lowering U.S. strength there to 515,000 men.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that level will now be reached by Sept. 30.

"My strong feeling is that when the President said 25,000 men would be withdrawn by the end of August, he meant it," Mansfield said in an interview. "All too often, departments and agencies do not carry out the will of the chief executive."

Gore reported a 1,000 man increase in troop strength in the past week.

"That places the President in an embarrassing position," Mansfield said. "It is not his fault. It may be that his subordinates in the Department of Defense didn't carry out his orders."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the administration has refused to supply a copy of the agreement with Thailand despite his repeated requests.

It was signed before President Nixon took office.

Fulbright described it as a contingency plan covering U.S. commitment of troops under certain circumstances of aggression or threatened aggression against Thailand. The agreement may go beyond the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact, Fulbright said.

"I have some reason to believe the Department of State itself is not allowed to have a copy of the plan, despite the fact that the plan," Fulbright said, "could very well involve us in another Vietnam-type war."

Expect Monday Senate Vote To Curb Germ War Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Armed Services Committee says he expects the Senate to vote approval Monday of a proposal to put strict limits on the testing, shipment and storage of such chemical and biological warfare agents as nerve gas.

"I feel this is a rather solid start of this program," Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters. "I think we've got to make some regulations."

The proposal, an amendment to the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill, was developed Friday at a series of conferences between sponsors of eight different CWB amendments and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., chairman of the special armed services research subcommittee.

An amendment to provide that funds for CWB activities be spelled out in future procurement bills was left out of the combined package. A separate vote on it should come Monday.

Senate leaders, however, have about given up hope of finishing work on the massive defense bill before September.

At last 10 amendments remained to be offered, including proposals to cut funds for such major weapons as the Advanced Man Strategic Aircraft, a new aircraft carrier and the C5A supersonic transport.

The most controversial CWB proposal deals with open air testing of nerve gas. Rather than the outright ban proposed by Sens. Gaylord Nelson, D-

Wis., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., it sets strict standards for conduct of such tests.

Under the new proposal, future testing would have to have the approval of the Secretary of Defense and Surgeon General and the test itself should be essential to national security. The two officials would have to present their approvals to six congressional committees 30 days before any such tests along with the name of the agents, reason, time and place.

Teen Given Jail Term For Kidnap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One of two teenagers arrested last February in the kidnaping of a Point Pleasant, W. Va., beautician, was sentenced to an indeterminate prison term Friday in U. S. District Court here.

The sentence was imposed on Douglas Melvin Short, 16, of Glendenin, W. Va., who had pleaded guilty to interstate transportation of a motor vehicle and knowledge of a kidnaping.

He had been given the choice of being sentenced as an adult or juvenile. He asked for juvenile proceedings that allow federal authorities to hold him until his 21st birthday anniversary.

Federal Judge Joseph P. Kinneary told Short he believed reports of investigators and Short's attorney, who held the boy was "weak-willed" but not "vicious or incorrigible."

Short and Jerry Deal, 17, of Charleston, W. Va., were accused of forcing Mrs. Paula K. Thabet to accompany them from Point Pleasant to Washington Court House where Mrs. Thabet managed to attract attention of a deputy sheriff.

Nixon Urges Income Base For All Poor

Strike Keeps Pan Am Idle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant jets of Pan American World Airways sat silent at airport terminals as striking Teamsters Union ground employees today considered a tentative contract agreement.

The nation's largest overseas airline said it would restore full service early Tuesday, provided the three-year contract is ratified by the union rank-and-file.

The settlement, with the help of federal mediators, was reached shortly after midnight. Details were not disclosed. Assistant Secretary of Labor William J. Usery Jr. said union bargainers "will recommend adoption of the proposed contract."

Ratification meetings are to be completed by Monday afternoon, Usery said.

Pan Am canceled all outbound flights early Friday after 7,500 cargo handlers, ticket and reservation clerks and other office personnel walked off the job.

Travelers waiting to board planes for Europe, South America and the Far East scurried to book reservations with other carriers. Aside from long lines at ticket counters, little difficulty was reported at terminals throughout the country.

4 More Ohioans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Friday reported four more Ohioans have been killed in action in Vietnam.

They were Army Sgt. Glen A. Millinger of Oak Harbor, Army Spec. 4 Rodney F. Stevens of South Point, Army Pfc. Rickey E. Harris of Cincinnati and Marine Pfc. James W. Blake of Sandusky.

FLYING SCOTSMAN TO TOUR U.S. — America's steam locomotive buffs will get a chance to see the world's most famed railway engine, the Flying Scotsman, this fall. British millionaire Alan Pegler, 49 (shown with the engine in England), who rescued the Scotsman from a scrap heap, will take the engine on a tour of the United States in hopes of building up trade with the U.S. The Scotsman was the first steam engine to hit 100 miles an hour, and spent 40 years speeding between London and Edinburgh, Scotland.

Analysts See Mixed Results From Capital Gains Reform

NEW YORK (AP) — The securities industry has divergent views on the potential effects of the broad tax reform bill passed by the House of Representatives.

The New York Stock Exchange has taken a formal position against the capital gains taxes in the bill as applied to securities transactions.

But a sampling of opinion from other segments of the securities industry, including knowledgeable bankers and stock brokers, indicated they are uncertain what impact the reform would have on the individual stockholder and the market in general.

The broad tax-reform bill, which passed the House by a large majority, is slated to go before the Senate, where the Finance Committee will begin hearings shortly after the end of the congressional summer recess Sept. 3.

The proposed capital gains tax changes would hit lower and middle income taxpayers the hardest and probably would not raise added revenues, the NYSE contended.

Under the House passed bill, property, including securities, would have to be held for one year instead of the present six months to qualify for the present favorable capital gains tax rate.

"In all likelihood," the exchange said, some taxpayers will defer selling securities until the one-year holding period runs out, contributing to "less reinvestment, and less capital gains tax paid."

An opposing view was offered by a senior analyst, who declined to be named, for one of the nation's largest brokerages: "The capital gains extension probably won't affect the individual investor," he said. "The average holding of stock by individual investors is between six and eight years. The six-month extension won't affect them much."

The bill would eliminate the 25 per cent ceiling for the capital gains tax rate. All taxpayers would pay—the rate would change with total income—taxes on half their capital gains. The maximum tax rate would be 35 per cent. This provision would apply to transactions after July 25 of this year.

Dry Cleaning

Firm Is Guttured; Arson Blamed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dry cleaning establishment that figured in Columbus' East Side racial disturbances July 21 was gutted late Friday by a fire arsonists said had been set by arsonists.

It was the Pad and Pillow Place on East Main Street, the store operated by Dave E. Chesnut who is accused of slaying one of his neighbors, a Negro, July 21.

Chesnut, 69, and white, is held on $25,000 bond in the shooting death of Roy Beasley, 27. It was Beasley's death that touched off the demonstrations that erupted into more violent rioting in which one other white man was killed by a sniper.

In the Friday night fire a small crowd gathered but there was no disturbance.

Ohio Farm Bureau Sets Project HELP

LIBERTY CENTER, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau launched Project HELP here Friday after several hundred farmers from 60 counties toured the migrant worker belt to inspect farm labor problems.

HELP is an acronym for Help Establish Legislative Protection for farmers and farm workers. The bureau opposes efforts by organized labor to place farm workers under the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board. It seeks to put the farm labor problem under a separate board for agriculture rather than the NLRB.

New Program Will Emphasize Jobs, Not Dole

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon wants a "New Federalism" that will ship tax dollars and job programs out of Washington but nationalize the welfare system and give every poor family a basic income.

The heart of the President's domestic proposals, announced in his broadcast Friday night, is a federal income guarantee of $1,600 a year to a family of four, plus supplements until earnings reach $3,920—provided the breadwinner is willing to work.

His new "family assistance program" and other reforms would supplant the present aid to dependent children program, subsidize the working poor for the first time and add $4 billion a year to the present $4.2 billion federal welfare bill. Welfare recipients would more than double to 22.4 million.

The President called for gradual assignment of the $1 billion-a-year federal manpower program to state and local governments. Some $660 million more would be added to expand job training for welfare recipients and offer day-care centers for their children.

State and local governments would also share $1 billion a year in federal revenues with few strings attached, beginning in 1971.

Republican leaders in Congress generally applauded the President's program. But action on the welfare reforms may be a year or two away, they cautioned, and revenue sharing is sure to face rough going.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee is one important Democrat who doubts Congress will shovel out money with few controls. His committee will consider the revenue sharing proposal, which House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said could mount to $5 billion a year by 1975.

The President advocated federal payments of $65 a month for recipients of three adult welfare programs—aid to the blind, disabled and aged. The government now has a sliding scale of matching payments for the programs.

Nixon also announced executive reorganization of the anti-poverty agency for a new emphasis on experimental job programs rather than operation of proven ones.

States would save $735.8 million a year in welfare costs under his federalized program, the President said.

Storms Slap Middle West; Twisters Hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Thunderstorms slapped the Midwest with wind, rain and hail today after unleashing tornadoes in parts of Iowa late Friday.

Trees and power lines were torn down in Sioux City, Iowa, where a twister Friday night was accompanied by more than 2 inches of rain. Other tornadoes were sighted in the Iowa communities of Sibley and Jefferson. No serious injuries were reported, however.

In the Sioux City storm, a police car was picked up, spun around twice and set down in a field, the Weather Bureau said. Neither of the two officers inside was injured.

High winds and hail also battered sections of Nebraska and South Dakota before the turbulent weather rolled into Missouri and Illinois in the predawn hours. More than 1½ inches of rain soaked Sioux Falls, S.D.

Winds hit 65 miles an hour during a heavy thunderstorm at Springfield, Ill., just before daybreak.

Showers dampened scattered areas across the Northeast as cooler air crept over the region. Generally fair weather prevailed through the South and over most of the country from the Rockies westward.

Devaluation Of French Franc Shakes Europe

PARIS (AP) — France has devalued the franc by 12½ per cent in an effort to improve deteriorating economy.

The surprise move Friday gives tourists more for their dollar and makes French goods cheaper in world trade, but casts a shadow over the fate of other European currencies.

The alternatives to devaluation were bankruptcy or deflation leading to massive unemployment, Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing told a nationwide television audience.

He said France lost $500 million a month in gold reserves in the last half of 1968 and $300 million a month in the first half of 1969.

"... I can tell you, if we had not acted, by the end of the year France's real reserves . . . these reserves would have equalled practically zero," he said. "And by the end of the first half of 1970, these reserves would not just have been zero, they would have been negative . . . It was a situation that could not continue."

Giscard d'Estaing announced the move after a Cabinet meeting called by President Georges Pompidou.

The new value of the franc, effective Monday, will be 17½ U.S. cents as compared to the present 20 cents. The dollar becomes officially equivalent to 5.55419 francs instead of 4.96706.

The official devaluation figure is 12½ per cent—that is how much a Frenchman will lose when he trades his francs for dollars and how much a foreign tourist will gain when he trades other currencies for francs.

Washington and other foreign governments were quick to say that the French move would not affect their currencies.

London said the pound sterling would not be devalued and Bonn said the Deutsche mark would not be revalued upward.

But individual money dealers, bankers and financial experts were not so sure. Some said the pound sterling is "next in line." Doubts were voiced about the stability of the Italian lira, the Belgian franc and the Danish krone.

French-speaking African nations and other countries that peg their currencies to the franc will be first to feel the effects.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has denied a columnist's report that he asked his cousin, Joseph Gargan, to take the blame for the car accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne was killed.

Asked about the copyright story by columnist Jack Anderson, Kennedy said, "I wouldn't make any comment other than it's untrue. It's false."

Kennedy was interviewed in Washington and his remarks broadcast on the CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite.

Anderson said Kennedy asked Gargan to say he was driving the car, then changed his mind the following morning. Gargan also has denied the report.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association Friday announced an end to sanctions applied June 20 against the New Carlisle-Bethel Local School District.

The sentence was imposed on Douglas Melvin Short, 16, of Gleneden, W. Va., who had pleaded guilty to interstate transportation of a motor vehicle and knowledge of a kidnaping.

He had been given the choice of being sentenced as an adult or juvenile. He asked for juvenile proceedings that allow federal authorities to hold him until his 21st birthday anniversary.

Federal Judge Joseph P. Kinneary told Short he believed reports of investigators and Short's attorney, who held the boy was "weak-willed" but not "vicious or incorrigible."

Short and Jerry Deal, 17, of Charleston, W. Va., were accused of forcing Mrs. Paula K. Thabet to accompany them from Point Pleasant to Washington Court House where Mrs. Thabet managed to attract attention of a deputy sheriff.

Strike Keeps Pan Am Idle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant jets of Pan American World Airways sat silent at airport terminals as striking Teamsters Union ground employees today considered a tentative contract agreement.

The nation's largest overseas airline said it would restore full service early Tuesday, provided the three-year contract is ratified by the union rank-and-file.

The settlement, with the help of federal mediators, was reached shortly after midnight. Details were not disclosed. Assistant Secretary of Labor William J. Usery Jr. said union bargainers "will recommend adoption of the proposed contract."

Ratification meetings are to be completed by Monday afternoon, Usery said.

Pan Am canceled all outbound flights early Friday after 7,500 cargo handlers, ticket and reservation clerks and other office personnel walked off the job.

Travelers waiting to board planes for Europe, South America and the Far East scurried to book reservations with other carriers. Aside from long lines at ticket counters, little difficulty was reported at terminals throughout the country.

4 More Ohioans Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Friday reported four more Ohioans have been killed in action in Vietnam.

They were Army Sgt. Glen A. Millinger of Oak Harbor, Army Spec. 4 Rodney F. Stevens of South Point, Army Pfc. Rickey E. Harris of Cincinnati and Marine Pfc. James W. Blake of Sandusky.

FLYING SCOTSMAN TO TOUR U.S. — America's steam locomotive buffs will get a chance to see the world's most famed railway engine, the Flying Scotsman, this fall. British millionaire Alan Pegler, 49 (shown with the engine in England), who rescued the Scotsman from a scrap heap, will take the engine on a tour of the United States in hopes of building up trade with the U.S. The Scotsman was the first steam engine to hit 100 miles an hour, and spent 40 years speeding between London and Edinburgh, Scotland.

Analysts See Mixed Results From Capital Gains Reform

NEW YORK (AP) — The securities industry has divergent views on the potential effects of the broad tax reform bill passed by the House of Representatives.

The New York Stock Exchange has taken a formal position against the capital gains taxes in the bill as applied to securities transactions.

But a sampling of opinion from other segments of the securities industry, including knowledgeable bankers and stock brokers, indicated they are uncertain what impact the reform would have on the individual stockholder and the market in general.

The broad tax-reform bill, which passed the House by a large majority, is slated to go before the Senate, where the Finance Committee will begin hearings shortly after the end of the congressional summer recess Sept. 3.

The proposed capital gains tax changes would hit lower and middle income taxpayers the hardest and probably would not raise added revenues, the NYSE contended.

Under the House passed bill, property, including securities, would have to be held for one year instead of the present six months to qualify for the present favorable capital gains tax rate.

"In all likelihood," the exchange said, some taxpayers will defer selling securities until the one-year holding period runs out, contributing to "less reinvestment, and less capital gains tax paid."

An opposing view was offered by a senior analyst, who declined to be named, for one of the nation's largest brokerages:

"The capital gains extension probably won't affect the individual investor," he said. "The average holding of stock by individual investors is between six and eight years. The six-month extension won't affect them much."

The bill would eliminate the 25 per cent ceiling for the capital gains tax rate. All taxpayers would pay—the rate would change with total income—taxes on half their capital gains. The maximum tax rate would be 35 per cent. This provision would apply to transactions after July 25 of this year.

In the Friday night fire a small crowd gathered but there was no disturbance.

Giscard d'Estaing invited finance ministers from these countries to meet with him here Sunday.

The timing of the move was a surprise. It was made on a Friday evening after most of the world money markets had closed. Many French financiers and money traders were away on vacation along with much of the nation.

The secret of devaluation was well kept. Giscard d'Estaing said the decision was made July 16 but "from that moment until tonight only eight persons in France knew of it."

French-speaking African nations and other countries that peg their currencies to the franc will be first to feel the effects.

Washington and other foreign governments were quick to say that the French move would not affect their currencies.

London said the pound sterling would not be devalued and Bonn said the Deutsche mark would not be revalued upward.

But individual money dealers, bankers and financial experts were not so sure. Some said the pound sterling is "next in line." Doubts were voiced about the stability of the Italian lira, the Belgian franc and the Danish krone.

New Program Will Emphasize Jobs, Not Dole

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon wants a "New Federalism" that will ship tax dollars and job programs out of Washington but nationalize the welfare system and give every poor family a basic income.

The heart of the President's domestic proposals, announced in his broadcast Friday night, is a federal income guarantee of $1,600 a year to a family of four, plus supplements until earnings reach $3,920—provided the breadwinner is willing to work.

His new "family assistance program" and other reforms would supplant the present aid to dependent children program, subsidize the working poor for the first time and add $4 billion a year to the present $4.2 billion federal welfare bill. Welfare recipients would more than double to 22.4 million.

The President called for gradual assignment of the $1 billion-a-year federal manpower program to state and local governments. Some $660 million more would be added to expand job training for welfare recipients and offer day-care centers for their children.

State and local governments would also share $1 billion a year in federal revenues with few strings attached, beginning in 1971.

Republican leaders in Congress generally applauded the President's program. But action on the welfare reforms may be a year or two away, they cautioned, and revenue sharing is sure to face rough going.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee is one important Democrat who doubts Congress will shovel out money with few controls. His committee will consider the revenue sharing proposal, which House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said could amount to $5 billion a year by 1975.

The President advocated federal payments of $65 a month for recipients of three adult welfare programs—aid to the blind, disabled and aged. The government now has a sliding scale of matching payments for the programs.

Nixon also announced executive reorganization of the anti-poverty agency for a new emphasis on experimental job programs rather than operation of proven ones.

States would save $735.8 million a year in welfare costs under his federalized program, the President said.

Storms Slap Middle West; Twisters Hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms slapped the Midwest with wind, rain and hail today after unleashing tornadoes in parts of Iowa late Friday.

Trees and power lines were torn down in Sioux City, Iowa, where a twister Friday night was accompanied by more than 2 inches of rain. Other tornadoes were sighted in the Iowa communities of Sibley and Jefferson. No serious injuries were reported, however.

In the Sioux City storm, a police car was picked up, spun around twice and set down in a field, the Weather Bureau said. Neither of the two officers inside was injured.

High winds and hail also battered sections of Nebraska and South Dakota before the turbulent weather rolled into Missouri and Illinois in the predawn hours. More than 1½ inches of rain soaked Sioux Falls, S.D.

Showers dampened scattered areas across the Northeast as cooler air crept over the region.

Generally fair weather prevailed through the South and over most of the country from the Rockies westward.

If rains intrude on your outdoor meal preparations, don't move that charcoal grill or hibachi into the house or garage! That warning comes from Safety authorities at The Ohio State University.

They warn that burning charcoal briquettes produce large quantities of odorless but deadly carbon monoxide gas. You need plenty of air to get rid of the poisonous gases from burning charcoal. Poisoning and even asphyxiations have been reported when briquettes were burned indoors.

So keep that lit charcoal grill or hibachi out of the garage, basement, or any other enclosed area such as a porch, tent, cabin, camper, or car. It takes only a little carbon monoxide gas to cause poisoning. So keep your outdoor cooking outdoors where this deadly gas can have plenty of room to escape.

A little paper-and-pencil work can help you stretch family meat dollars, says an Extension Economist in Marketing Information. Start with planning — meals and the shopping trip — before you go to the food store. Note these dollar-stretching ideas:

Read the food ads. Meat is best supply is usually specialized — often 20 to 30 percent below the usual price. Keep up-to-date on prices so you can recognize good buys and specials as they appear.

Don't base your decision on price alone. Consider the amount of waste that may be present and compare cost per serving. Simply divide the price per pound by the number of servings you could expect from a given cut of meat.

Economists offer this guide. Much bone (short ribs, spare ribs), 1 serving per pound; some bone (pork loin roast, blade chuck roast), 2 servings per pound; little bone (round steak, ham steak), 3 servings per pound; no bone (ground beef, boneless roasts), 4 servings per pound.

Look for less expensive cuts with little waste. These may be different from what you have been serving your family. Pork liver, for example, is one of the least expensive meats available, yet is exceptionally high in nutritive value.

Consider other protein-rich foods. Fish is a good choice — consider frozen perch, haddock, cod fillets, canned tuna and mackerel. So is poultry, especially when specialized. Other protein-rich foods include eggs, cheese, beans, lentils, split peas, and peanut butter.

Check your favorite cookbook for new and interesting recipes for less expensive meat cuts and protein-rich alternates.

Be willing to spend time and energy in planning, shopping, and preparation. It will pay!

Paper Publishes List Of Agents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The antieestablishment Los Angeles Free Press has published what it identifies as a list of 80 state narcotic agents with addresses and telephone number under the headline "Know Your Neighborhood Narc."

The publication of the list was termed a "wildly irresponsible act" by California Chief Dep. Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien, who said he could "neither confirm nor deny" the list's accuracy.

The list said the narcotics agents were based in Los Angeles, Santa Ana, San Diego and San Francisco. Narcotics bureaus in Sacramento and Fresno were left out.

The powdery mildews live and multiply only on living plant material. The fungus does not enter the plant tissue, as do many other fungi, but it remains on the surface, sending special structures into the epidermal cells to obtain its food.

Good air circulation is important in keeping this disease to a minimum. This can be done by wide spacing of the plants or trimming of trees and shrubs for better air flow in areas where such plants are used for screening purposes. In some cases resistant varieties can be used where available.

Fungicide sprays and dusts can be applied to plant material to protect them from the powdery mildews. Dinocap (Karathane or Mildex) is specific for powdery mildew and can be applied after it is visible. Generally, two or three applications are necessary, but in some cases it may not control all the powdery mildew as different species are involved. Sulfur and fixed coppers will protect new growth and must be used at regular intervals for best results. Actidione PM and folpet (Phaltan) is also used. In all cases, when using these materials, read the directions and follow instructions carefully.

4-Hers Attend Camp For Conservation

Becky Shannon and Jerrold Fields are representing Pickaway County this week at 4-H State Conservation Camp at Camp Ohio in Licking County.

BECKY SHANNON

Becky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shannon, of Route 2, Orient, is a member of the Darby Cooks of Tomorrow, Darby Fine and Dandy, and Darby Flying Needles 4-H clubs.

Jerrold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fields, of Route 1, Orient, is a member of the Darby Fine and Dandy and Darby Resisters 4-H Clubs.

JERROLD FIELDS

Conservation Camp is attended by two representatives of each county in the state. The purpose of this camp is for 4-H members to become more fully aware of the need for conserving our natural resources and the methods employed in conservation. Conservation of soil, water, air, and woodlands will be topics for this camp.

HONORED — Nancy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger May, Circleville, was one of 28 4-H Club members from throughout the nation to be honored for excellence in 4-H agribusiness program including cooperatives at the 41st annual summer session of the American Institute of Cooperation held at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign, August 3-7. Dr. Walter Jacoby, director of youth education for the American Institute of Cooperation, presents the award to Nancy.

Beltline Scratchers Busy Digging At Chiggers Now

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

The beltline scratchers are busy now. Many a hiker, camper or amateur naturalist wishes he had stayed home last weekend.

The reason, the familiar redbug or chigger is out hunting the human host again, ready to cause his intense itching rash on man, woman and child.

But, says Richard L. Miller, Ohio State University Extension Entomologist, most of these pests can be battled to a standoff. Simply use a couple of commercial repellent preparations, he says.

The chigger likes berry patches, orchards, woodlands, lake shores, lawns, parks and golf courses where Americans spend their holidays. Rather than give up these outings, follow these directions.

GET either of the repellents known as Off or 612. Pour or spray some of the repellent on the hands, rub them together, then rub lightly the arms and legs if exposed. Put some of the repellent on stockings and socks at the ankles, waistbands of shirts and shorts or trousers. This will give good control for several hours. The repellents are also sold in aerosol bomb and stick formulations.

After an outing, take a hot, soapy bath to wash the chiggers off before they settle down for a meal.

Chiggers imbed themselves in the skin and inject a fluid to dissolve the tissue upon which they feed. They'll stay about three days and leave. Their legacy to you — an inflamed, itching red spot.

County Youths Win State 4-H Honors

Three Pickaway County 4-Hers were named as district winners and two were then selected as state 4-H award winners this past week.

TERRY HAMILTON

Terry Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, of Route 1, Williamsport, and a member of the Future Farmers of Monroe 4-H Club, has been selected as a delegate to Founders Camp.

This trip is one of the two highest awards in all of 4-H club work. This camp will be held at Camp Miniwanka, Michigan, in August, 1970.

Founders Camp, better known as the American Youth Foundation Leadership Camp, is a non-denominational Christian leadership training camp.

ITS purpose is to assist young people to discuss and to develop their best selves, to help them make a constructive life adjustment, and to better equip them to guide others.

The sponsor of Terrys' award is the Danforth Foundation, Ralston Purina Company.

Dave Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, of Route 3, Mt. Sterling, and a member of the Darby Fine and Dandy Club, has been selected as a delegate to National Dairy Conference in Chicago, Illinois, on December 4-6, 1969.

Dave's award for dairy efficiency is sponsored by National Dairy Products, Northern Ohio Breeder's Association, and Central Ohio Breeders Association.

Peggy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, of Route 1, Circleville, and a member of the Logan Elm Homemakers, was selected as district winner in the bread category.

Congratulations to these three top-notch 4-Hers and their families and clubs.

Senate Votes To Audit All Major Pentagon Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators seeking stricter control over Pentagon spending are hailing their victory over the military and its congressional allies on the issue of auditing major defense contracts.

"I'm elated," Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said after a series of three votes — two of them decided by one-vote margins — in which a bipartisan coalition Thursday recouped some of the ground lost in their unsuccessful effort to block the Safeguard missile defense system.

Schweiker, a Senate freshman, called the action "a reflection of the mood of the Senate and the people that military spending has gotten out of hand."

"Isn't that terrific? It's mighty encouraging," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told a newsman. Proxmire is leading a group of senators trying to cut other parts of the $20 billion military procurement bill.

The Wisconsin Democrat expects difficult fights on many other pending amendments aimed at the CSA super transport, a new aircraft carrier and the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft.

Debate was expected today on the amendment of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., which would strike $54.5 million in funds for the MBT-70 tank. The Senate could start work too, on eight amendments which would curb Pentagon use of chemical and biological warfare (CBW) agents, including open air testing of nerve gas.

Senators Thursday rejected 70-27 the amendment of Sen.

Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., to bar deployment of ABM missiles but allow installation of the system's radars.

U.S. To Seek Renewed Contact With Red China

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Secretary of state William P. Rogers said Friday the U.S. government will soon make another attempt to reopen talks with Communist China in Warsaw.

"We would like to resume this dialogue," Rogers told the Canberra Press Club. "We would hope that they do, too."

Ambassadors from the United States and Red China met periodically in Geneva and then in the Polish capital from 1955 until January 1968. Peking proposed a resumption of the talks last February, but canceled at the last minute when a Chinese diplomat in The Hague defected to the United States.

Rogers also won endorsement of President Nixon's new Asian policy from Australia and New Zealand, America's partners in the Anzus Pact. A communique issued after the meeting today of the Anzus Council said the two island commonwealths "shared with Asians the view that the responsibility for internal security could be increasingly assumed by Asian nations themselves."

PATCO Claims Wires Tapped By U.S. Agents

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The National Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATCO) charged Friday that the federal government has been tapping the home telephones of several of its board members and officers.

"We know our phones are being tapped," said Jerry Miles a PATCO board member and controller at the bustling Tampa International Airport.

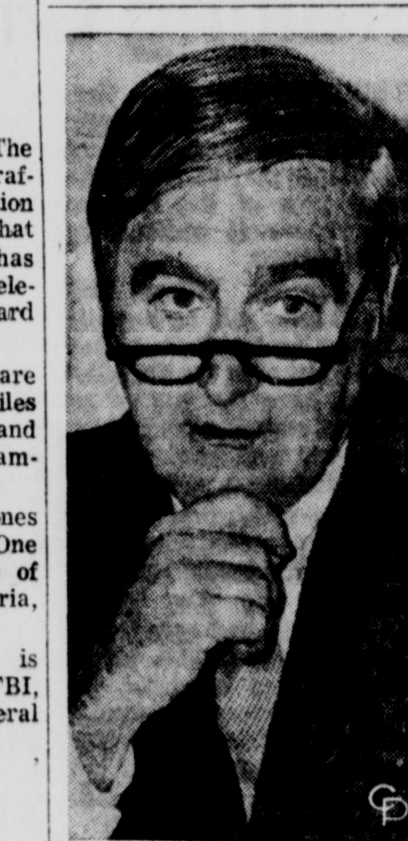

Miles issued a list of phones allegedly being tapped. One listed was the home phone of Thomas Donaghy of Elyria, Ohio.

Miles said the tapping is being done either by the FBI, Justice Department or Federal Aviation Administration.

Powdery Mildew Is Problem In Crabapple Trees

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

If the leaves of plants begin to curl such as flowering crabapple trees and a white powdery flour-like growth is present on the leaves, chances are that the problem is powdery mildew.

Turf grass under trees or in areas where air circulation is poor may be covered with white patches of the disease and eventually many ornamental plants, vegetables and trees may show the mildew symptoms, says R. E. Parlyke, Extension Plant Pathologist at The Ohio State University.

The powdery mildews live and multiply only on living plant material. The fungus does not enter the plant tissue, as do many other fungi, but it remains on the surface, sending special structures into the epidermal cells to obtain its food.

Here's a simple test to check for their presence in an area where you intend to vacation. Make a fold of black cardboard and set it up on the ground. Chiggers in the area, for some reason, will climb to the top of the cardboard. They can be easily seen.

Put these folded cardboards in several different areas for a good check. Use areas with different types of cover such as solid grass areas, dead leaf areas, decaying twig areas, etc.

If you want to field spray, use one of the following: Chlordane, Toxaphene, or Lindane. Follow labels for mixing and safe use.

NOW, if you have chigger bites, use the following formulation to help overcome itching.

Benzocaine, 5 per cent of the total; methyl salicylate, 2 per cent; salicylic acid, 0.5 per cent; ethyl alcohol, 73 per cent and water, 19.5 per cent. Have your druggist mix these materials in the above proportions.

Apply the mixture to each welt for relief with a piece of cotton. One treatment will give relief for about an hour, says Miller. Repeat the treatment as often as necessary. Some victims apply fingernail polish to the welt for relief.

PATCO Claims Wires Tapped By U.S. Agents

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The National Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATCO) charged Friday that the federal government has been tapping the home telephones of several of its board members and officers.

"We know our phones are being tapped," said Jerry Miles a PATCO board member and controller at the bustling Tampa International Airport.

Miles issued a list of phones allegedly being tapped. One listed was the home phone of Thomas Donaghy of Elyria, Ohio.

Miles said the tapping is being done either by the FBI, Justice Department or Federal Aviation Administration.

Billboard Takes No Chances

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The chief elected legal officers from several states met here and the man who composes messages on an outside billboard at the motel took no chances.

Senate Votes To Audit All Major Pentagon Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators seeking stricter control over Pentagon spending are hailing their victory over the military and its congressional allies on the issue of auditing major defense contracts.

"I'm elated," Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said after a series of three votes — two of them decided by one-vote margins — in which a bipartisan coalition Thursday recouped some of the ground lost in their unsuccessful effort to block the Safe-guard missile defense system.

Schweiker, a Senate freshman, called the action "a reflection of the mood of the Senate and the people that military spending has gotten out of hand."

"Isn't that terrific? It's mighty encouraging," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told a newsman Proxmire is leading a group of senators trying to cut other parts of the $20 billion military procurement bill.

The Wisconsin Democrat expects difficult fights on many other pending amendments aimed at the C5A super transport, a new aircraft carrier and the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft.

Debate was expected today on the amendment of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., which would strike $54.5 million in funds for the MBT-70 tank. The Senate could start work too, on eight amendments which would curb Pentagon use of chemical and biological warfare (CBW) agents, including open air testing of nerve gas.

Senators Thursday rejected 70-27 the amendment of Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., to bar deployment of ABM missiles but allow installation of the system's radars.

Schweiker's amendment for mandatory auditing of major defense contracts caused some brisk debate and frantic efforts by senior members of the Armed Services Committee to head it off.

U.S. To Seek Renewed Contact With Red China

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Secretary of state William P. Rogers said Friday the U.S. government will soon make another attempt to reopen talks with Communist China in Warsaw.

"We would like to resume this dialogue," Rogers told the Canberra Press Club. "We would hope that they do, too."

Ambassadors from the United States and Red China met periodically in Geneva and then in the Polish capital from 1955 until January 1968. Peking proposed a resumption of the talks last February, but canceled at the last minute when a Chinese diplomat in The Hague defected to the United States.

Rogers also won endorsement of President Nixon's new Asian policy from Australia and New Zealand, America's partners in the Anzus Pact. A communique issued after the meeting today of the Anzus Council said the two island commonwealths "shared with Asians the view that the responsibility for international security could be increasingly assumed by Asian nations themselves."

Small Iowa Town Gives Up Smoking, But Some Restart

GREENFIELD, Iowa (AP) — Most of the smokers in this Iowa farm hamlet pledged Friday to go "Cold Turkey" on their habit for 30 days. For some, the promise was short-lived.

Actor Dick Van Dyke, launching a promotion for a new movie in which he stars, lit a huge bonfire and into it went cigarettes, pipes and stogies from many of Greenfield's smokers.

The movie, named "Cold Turkey," is being filmed here by Tandem Productions. It is the story of a small town whose residents quit the smoking habit for 30 days to win a $25 million prize put up by a Madison Avenue promotion man.

City Councilman Dean Holland said he "suggested as sort of a joke that everyone in town ought to quit smoking and the idea caught on."

For some, the promise to quit smoking appeared easy, but the embers of the fire had hardly died down when others were back puffing tobacco again.

At one point, some 2,000 pledges had been signed, only 200 short of the population of Greenfield.

Ed Frederick, a 70-year-old who refused to give up his pipe and cigars, noted: "It looks like they've got more pledges than there are people, but at my age I just couldn't go along with it. Why sign up now just to maybe live a couple of extra years?"

The presence of the movie company had many of the residents in awe.

Dwight Marcum, who runs a grocery store, said: "I don't imagine there's one person in this town who has ever been on a movie set. All of a sudden they find themselves on one. They're impressed."

Mayor Dale Yount gave up his heavy schedule of cigars—"for the good of the community," he said.

Yount and Councilman Carl Carlson, accompanied by a small band, spent most of the day covering up cigarette advertising throughout the town.

Merchants had agreed to a one-day moratorium on the sale of cigarettes.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Gentle, cool breezes lapped Ohio during the night. Most places had temperatures in the 60s at daybreak.

Showers were expected across the state today in temperatures ranging from 78-85. The rain will stop Sunday, followed by cooler temperatures.

Fair weather is expected Monday, with temperatures remaining a little below normal.

—FORECASTS—

OHIO — Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers or thundershowers tonight. Lows in the 60s. Sunday, variable cloudiness and cool with showers east in the forenoon.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Considerable cloudiness with showers and scattered thundershowers tonight. Low in 60s. Sunday, partly cloudy and cool, with 75-80. Outlook for Monday, fair and mild.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Considerable cloudiness with showers and scattered thundershowers tonight. Low in 60s. Sunday, partly cloudy and cool, high in low 80s. Outlook for Monday, fair and mild.

NORTHEAST, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, AND SOUTHEAST OHIO — Scattered showers and thundershowers tonight. Low in 60s. Showers ending early Sunday and becoming partly cloudy and cool in afternoon. High in upper 70s and lower 80s. Outlook for Monday, fair and mild.

Canada-Red China Talks On Relations Are Stalled

OTTAWA (AP) — Talks aimed at establishing diplomatic relations between Canada and Communist China have stalled, sources in Ottawa report.

The informants said Peking has insisted that Canada formally recognize Communist China's claim to the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa, a demand the Ottawa government is not prepared to meet.

Ottawa, the sources said, had hoped to head off any conflict over the two-China issue by offering to break off ties with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government when relations were established with Peking.

The demand for recognition of sovereignty over specific territory is considered highly unusual in diplomatic conventions.

Officials said they found no evidence that Peking had required such acknowledgment from any of the 45 nations which now recognize the Communist regime, and the Canadians are hesitant to set such a precedent.

If Canada conceded, sources said, Peking almost certainly would make the demand an integral part of future negotiations with other countries. Few, it is thought, would accept the provision.

As a result Canada could be blamed for contributing to the further international isolation of the Peking government, which is contrary to the stated purpose of the Ottawa-Peking discussions.

A more optimistic view within the Foreign Affairs Department is that Peking is using the sovereignty issue to avoid giving the impression that it is over-anxious to establish ties with the West.

The last meeting in Stockholm, where the talks have been held, was July 11. Sources in Ottawa said no date has been set for the next session. However, it was pointed out, there have been periods in the past of up to six weeks without formal contact since the negotiations began Feb. 12.

Migrant Workers Getting Unfair Police Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators probing conditions facing farm workers have been told by a U.S. Civil Rights Commission member that Mexican-Americans are getting unfair treatment from law enforcement agents.

"It almost appears that the only way a Mexican-American gets out of poverty is to collect insurance of his father or son or brother killed in Vietnam—and that's a hell of a thing to say about our system," Dr. Hector P. Garcia testified Friday.

Commissioner Garcia, of Corpus Christi, Tex., told the Senate Migratory Labor subcommittee Friday that migrant workers are considered tramps by many law enforcers. He added that a two-year study by the commission shows brown Americans get unequal treatment from police, Texas Rangers and the courts.

Garcia said if workers try to organize for better wages or conditions, they can be sure the police will oppose them on behalf of growers. The workers are called Communists, agitators and troublemakers until they give up and disband, he added.

Indict Young Men In Gas Station Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Hamilton County grand jury indicted a pair of young men from the Cincinnati area Friday for first-degree murder in the slaying of a service station attendant.

Charles Helton, 20, of nearby Mulberry and Robert Mack of suburban Milford were indicted in the death of Toy Lee Carr, 28, of suburban Fairfax at a Fairfax station in April.

Governor Praises President's Speech

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes praised President Nixon's speech to the nation Friday night on domestic ills and proposed cures as "the first significant step in breaking the welfare cycle in 35 years."

Rhodes said Nixon "has recognized that our present welfare system is antiquated and obsolete and that we must begin to provide education and job training for all able-bodied people."

The president, Rhodes said, should be commended for "his efforts to provide work incentives that ultimately will help move people off welfare rolls and put them on payrolls."

He called the President's proposed program "the most important step in the history of welfare."

The club took a guided tour of the State House, with representatives of the Secretary of State's Office and the Treasurer's Office telling briefly about the duties of each office. We visited the Governor's Conference Room with a representative from Toledo. We spent some time looking at the paintings of the past governors. We visited the House and Senate Chambers. Following the tour we all had lunch at Mills Cafeteria. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Robert Mills, adviser, Mrs. Charles Wellman and Mrs. Kenneth Wolford.

Westfall Wranglers

The Westfall Wranglers held their third and last riding meeting at the home of Ann Bowser.

The riding meeting started off with trail class. Members had to walk their horses over logs, canter on the right lead through bales of hay, walk over a bridge, and clear the two foot jump.

After trail class advisors set up a barrel racing class. All members tried it at a canter. Mr. Bowser showed how it was done with his horse and also did the reining class. Then all members rode in a pleasure class, after that halter began with Alfred Johnson judge and John Cop ringmaster. All walked around the ring several times then lined up and walked to the ringmaster and trotted to the judge.

Thirteen members and their horses attended. All members enjoyed the riding meetings at the Bowser's home and wish to thank them for having the members.

5 Are Held In Slaying

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Painesville Municipal Judge Oliver Marshall set bond at $20,000 each for five persons being held as material witnesses in the savage slaying of motorcycle gang member Robert "Hitler" Hilliard.

All five were held in lieu of bail Friday.

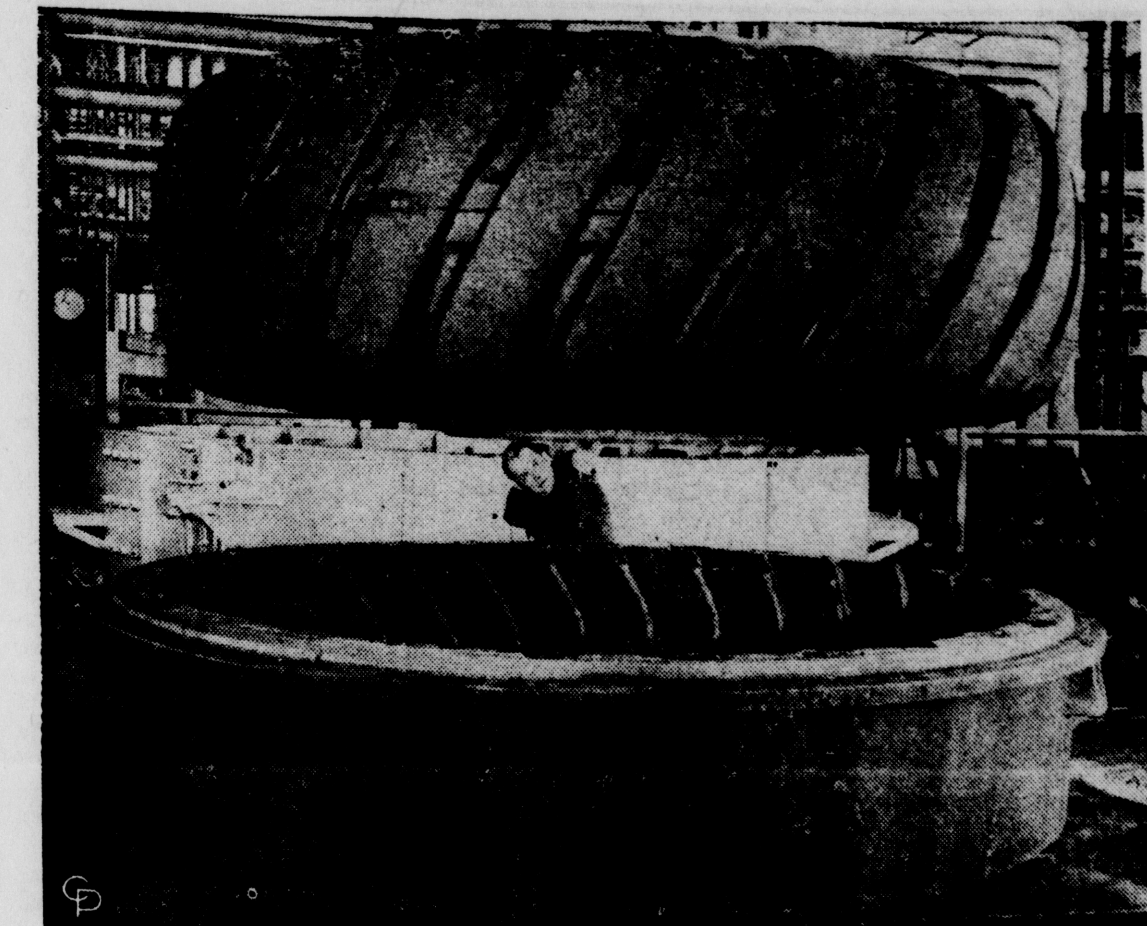

Hilliard's 18-year-old girl friend, who has been in protective custody, attended Hilliard's funeral at the Pentecostal Church of Christ on Parkwood Drive in Cleveland. Lake County Sheriff Edwin Cunningham accompanied her.

Hilliard, a Negro, was abducted at gunpoint Aug. 1 while walking with his white girl friend, Kathy Parker, on Coventry Road in Cleveland Heights. His body was found the next morning on a Lake County road. He had been stabbed, beaten and shot in the head.

Police say two men, identified as members of a rival motorcycle gang, have been identified by Miss Parker. The two, Joseph Sarli Jr., 20, and Joseph F. Williams, 21, both of Cleveland, have been charged with first degree murder, kidnapping and conspiracy to kidnap.

Styles In Architecture

Architectural designs have changed greatly in recent years, as everyone is aware. Sparked by such revolutionaries as the late Frank Lloyd Wright, architects have loosened considerably with designs, colors and building materials.

Wright took his fellow architects to task frequently for designing buildings without any thought to the people who would inhabit them. If he were here today he still might be chastising them, according to Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University of Chicago.

At a meeting of architects and interior decorators, Dr. Bettelheim chided the professionals for designing buildings which he said looked impressive enough on the outside but are frequently cold and miserably unimpressive on the inside.

What's more, he said, schools are built more for cattle than children; airports are designed to handle baggage, not people, and kitchens look more like chemical laboratories.

Whether the architects and decorators went back to their drawing boards hasn't been disclosed, but what the doctor was really saying is that to make a truly functional and happy building required more than a designer's eye.

To be certain all facets of the human environment have been considered, presumably the architect should also consult a psychiatrist, a medical doctor, an efficiency expert, a home economics major, an artist of whichever school the potential user prefers — and possibly an electronics expert, a landscaper and a typical housewife or office worker as well.

By the time a consensus was reached, either the architect would have exited into retirement or a Frank Lloyd Wright creation that even he wouldn't recognize would have been fashioned. In either event, at least some of the critics would have been stilled.

According To Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Since more trips are to be made to the moon, why not turn our lunar orb into a museum of mankind?

Then if man, in a frenzy of self-hate, should ever destroy himself and his works on earth, a record of his race would still exist in artifacts preserved for ever in the cold storage vaults of the moon.

In some future con, perhaps intelligent forms of life from outer space might explore our solar system, stumble upon this treasure trove of human relics on the moon, and ponder the magnificence and misery of man.

No two people would draw up the same list, but certainly the moon museum would be incomplete without these mementoes:

A bottle of aspirin tablets and a bottle of vitamin pills.

Copies of the Bible and the Koran.

A bow and arrow, a pistol, a rifle and a shotgun.

An encyclopedia, a multilingual dictionary, a world history, and collections of great world prose and poetry.

A very dry martini, a can of beer, and a magnum of champagne.

A wedding dress, a miniskirt, a bikini bathing suit, and a pair of nylon stockings.

A packet of hot dogs, a tin of tuna fish, a box of crunchy breakfast cereal, a piece of burnt toast, and jars of mustard, jam, marmalade, and peanut butter.

The farewell speech of Socrates and the latest oration of Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

An income tax form, a crossword puzzle, and several children's comic books.

Copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Communist Manifesto, and the U.S. Constitution.

Several pencils, a ball point pen, a can opener and an executive brief case containing a liverwurst sandwich doused with ketchup.

A yo yo, a hula hoop, a deck of cards and a pair of dice, sets of chess and checkers, and a book on astrology.

A broken vacuum cleaner, a broken washing machine, a broken power lawnmower, and a television set with a fuzzy screen.

Recordings by Elvis Presley, the Beatles, Julie Andrews, and any opera sung by Enrico Caruso.

A shimmering Christmas necktie, never worn.

A bottle of cola, a bottle of grape soda pop, an ice cream soda, a lump of sugar and a sacharine tablet.

An illustrated sex manual, a railroad timetable, a mail order catalog, a novel by Jacqueline Susann, and a collection of short stories by John O'Hara.

Some towels, bars of soap, and ashtrays stolen from the Americana and New York Hilton hotels.

A collection of the best jokes told by Calvin Coolidge, Milton Berle and Bob Hope.

Surely some visitor from space, pawing through these exhibits in a lunar museum, would wonder why man survived the wear and tear of his own creations as long as he did.

Some towels, bars of soap, and ashtrays stolen from the Americana and New York Hilton hotels.

A collection of the best jokes told by Calvin Coolidge, Milton Berle and Bob Hope.

"I remember," cackled one, "when no man or woman who counted would dream of going to an evening performance unless they were dressed for the occasion." "I remember even further back than that," sighed the other. "I remember when the actors and actresses dressed, too!"

Arduously wooed saviours of the hotel industry are the conventioners—bound for frolic, wine, women, and song. Last year there were 35,130 conventions in all, according to Sale Meeting Magazine, attended by over 12 million persons! Between them, they managed to spend some $IX BILLION dollars! 1969 promises to be bigger still!

How much noise can one conventioner make between 1:00 and 4:00 a.m.? Ask the man who's trying to sleep next door!

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A strange virus is suspected to be the cause of infectious mononucleosis, the disease that strikes young adults in schools, colleges, nursing and medical schools. It is known as the EB virus. At the present time this virus is strongly implicated as a cause of "mono."

Although the disease, infectious mononucleosis, is considered to be relatively mild, it does take a toll in many months of incapacitation and weakness. It is important, therefore, for scientists to learn more about the cause in the hope that prevention will follow.

The extent of scientific research is almost unbelievable. A group of doctors from the United States Public Health Service noted that on a tiny island in the Bering Sea not a single case of infectious mononucleosis was found among the natives. This so intrigued them that they decided to look for the EB virus in different isolated areas of the world. Dr. James Maynard and his colleagues found that on the St. Paul Island almost everyone above the age of three had within his blood antibodies against the EB virus. This explained why the small group of people living on this island were protected against mononucleosis.

It may well be that unrecognized virus infections can confer immunity on some people to mononucleosis and other viral diseases.

A fascinating report was just issued by Dr. W. R. Keatinge at the London Hospital. He and his colleagues have been studying the reasons why drowning deaths occur in very cold water. Normally, they say, such fatal accidents are said to be due to severe cramp. Their study and conclusion was based on a group of excellent swimmers who were typical clothing that a Sunday sailboat sailor might be wearing.

Almost as if a boat were overturned, these swimmers were placed in very cold water and quickly had a sense of difficulty in breathing as soon as they got into the water. The heavier, or fatter swimmers did not have as great difficulty as did the thinner men in the trial swim. An important conclusion reached by the scientists that "people thrown into the water should stay put until picked up." In addition, the suggestion was made that if sailors have any notice of impending danger, they should put on as much clothing as possible and that "it is imperative for occupants of small boats to wear a life jacket capable of keeping the face above the water. Swimming, even short distances, without one increases the risk of drowning considerably."

Closed circuit television and the wonders of modern electronic communication devices are exceedingly helpful to surgeons in the operating room. At the Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia there is a rapid television communication between the operating room and the laboratory. Within minutes the surgeon knows the exact nature of the tissue he is removing and plans his surgery on the information that is given to him.

Incidentally, beer-loving West Germany boosted its bourbon imports 80 per cent in 1968. That's a switch—from Berlin brew to Kentucky dew!

Women, say distillers, are showing an increased preference for bourbon. However, don't get the idea that makes it sissy stuff!

Since the flow of water on the American side has been diverted to permit a study of erosion effects, more tourists than ever have been visiting Niagara Falls. Seems people go for any kind of oddity—even a fall-less Niagara Falls.

There's a lot about football on the sports pages these days and you can just bet baseball club owners aren't getting a kick out of that.

Dear Editor:

Despite the many allegations against the City Income Tax, it is necessary that it be kept in force in order to insure the continuance of services provided by the city, ie, Police and Fire protection and street maintenance and repair to name a few. A little knowledge can become a dangerous thing and in the case of the income tax, it has. There are those who are using it politically to enhance their chances in the November elections, who have never taken the trouble or time to delve into the City's financial structure and who are therefore incapable of deciding whether or not the income tax was necessary. There are others who are against taxation per se and who blindly advocate repeal of the income tax. These very same people are the most vociferous complainers when there is a breakdown in City services.

No one has the right to expect something for nothing and this is applicable to the benefits arising from living within the city limits. They are provided by the city but each resident must pay his share in the form of taxes. The present state of the economy of the nation has produced demands for higher wages which always result in higher living costs. This is the problem with which the City Government of Circleville has been wrestling.

The basic income of the city comes from Real Estate, Gasoline, Sales and Intangible taxes. These taxes are collected by the State of Ohio and by the County of Pickaway and are distributed proportionately to the various political subdivisions of the County. The largest revenue producing element being Real Estate Taxes. As this tax is more or less constant, and as the cost of operating the city has been increasing there has been generated a gap in what should be done for the citizens of Circleville and what could be done with the monies received. Over the years this has resulted in poor streets, outdated and non-functioning fire hydrants, defective traffic lights, poor street lighting and disagreements with employees of the city on salary increases, hours worked and pay rates in general.

Council, under the guidance of the Finance Committee, took the bull by the horns and enacted an income tax in an effort to close the gap between income and increasing costs of operation. You have all seen the results — your streets are being paved, fire hydrants are being replaced and all are now in working order. Street lights have been replaced all over the city.

There has been criticism of Council with respect to the income tax because of the large figure shown as a balance in the financial reports submitted by the Auditor. The statement is made by those opposed to the tax that this money be used for operation of the city. This cannot be done as most of the funds in the report are earmarked by law for the activity from which they were derived; thus water works money can be used only in the water department.

The total monies available to the city as shown in the July 31, 1969 report of the Auditor shows a balance of $591,117.82. This money can only be spent within the scope of the various funds as previously explained. The total of all these funds is $558,521.90. Subtracting, leaves the sum of $32,595.92 which is the amount of money in the general fund and it is this money that Council can appropriate to operate the city. In addition to the $32,595.92, Council can also use 20 per cent of the income tax which amounted to $8,527.74 as of July 31, 1969. Due to budgetary commitments and unforeseen expenditures the unappropriated money in the general fund has been reduced to $2,524.49. This must last until December 31, 1969. A heavy snow storm that results in the snow being piled in the middle of the streets costs $2,500.00 to clean up; a wrecked cruiser costs about $2,800.00 to replace. These examples demonstrate how tight our financial situation is. The 20 per cent of the income tax which will approximate $15,000.00 for the 3 quarterly collections available in 1969 will be the cushion to carry the city to December 31, 1969.

There is another point that needs explanation — the $180,000.00 on deposit in local banks drawing interest and apparently not being used. This money is what is termed inactive money. Inactive money is money that has been budgeted but which will not be spent for at least 6 months. As the tax distributions from the county are received, there is a time lag between receipt and disbursement and we are able to maintain this money in interest drawing accounts. The interest from these accounts goes into the general fund and can be used as needed. But, as the principal has been previously allocated, it cannot be spent for other than the original allocation.

The city has had a one mill levy for operating expenses. Council advised the public that with the enactment of the income tax this would not be renewed and it will not be on the November ballot. Since one mill produces $35,000.00 in Pickaway County and since 1/2 per cent or 5 mills in the case of the income tax produces $160,000.00 it is evident that our income tax result is the equivalent of a 4 mill tax.

The Finance Committee trusts this explanation will clear up any misunderstandings and if there are questions we shall endeavor to answer them.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some questions, observations and comments about the state of the American economy, especially as they relate to ordinary consumers and their quest for financial security:

Something Is Wrong
Despite the classic beauty of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation program isn't it badly off target when among the first effects to be felt are a decline in housing construction and a curtailment of student loans?

Because of an eight-month-old squeeze on the supply of money, home mortgage rates are now up to 7 3/4 per cent on average. Moreover, many request for loans simply are turned down no matter how sound the borrower's finances.

The net result is that housing starts are down to around 1.4 million units a year, or hundreds of thousands of units fewer than are needed. In addition, at least one-third of the units are in large apartment houses.

The one bright aspect of the housing picture is that in some areas the steep rise in prices has slowed. In fact, if you check with real estate brokers you'll find that the price tags on some houses have dropped in recent weeks.

The banks can charge only 7 per cent on government backed loans, while the basic lending rate to the best customers is 8.5 per cent.

Unless quick action is taken in the House of Representatives to improve the return to banks, as many as 200,000 students might be turned down in seeking loans for the fall semester.

The Mystery of Meat Prices
So far this year the average retail price of meat has risen more than 9 per cent. Since meats account for 25 to 30 per cent of the average grocery bill, it is obvious what this increase is doing to food budgets.

But why should meat prices rise so sharply when the supplies of meat are abundant? In the past, price increases generally were associated with a shortage of supplies. But there's no great shortage today.

The American Meat Institute, a producer's organization, claims that the only possible answer is a big increase in demands for meats, resulting partially from consumer prosperity. If so, that demand was indeed very sudden.

Has Detroit Misread The Consumer?

Some of the cleverest marketing brains are employed by General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. Using electronic and mathematical studies, they seemingly can read the brainwaves, desires, aspirations of ordinary Americans.

It appears that way from the reports, that is. The hard statistics show a different result. Americans, for example, continue to buy foreign cars in numbers that Detroit would never have believed a few years ago.

Last year more than a million imports were sold in the United States, giving foreign cars 10.7 per cent of the market. This year they've pushed that figure to 12.7 per cent. Foreign car sales rose in July; domestic sales were down.

Overkill
Although the anti-inflation policy of the Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration is just now showing some long delayed effects, a few economists already fear the measures have gone too far.

The chief weapon in curtailing inflation is restricting the flow of money to the economy. Its effects aren't really felt until months after the action and sometimes cannot be forecast accurately.

These worried economists fear that present actions are going to bring a very pronounced slowdown—even a recession — in a few months and that, therefore, the money spigots should be opened a bit right now.

They recall that similar measures were taken against the inflation of 1957-58, resulting in the steepest recession since the 1930s.

U.S. Teachers Travel To Israel

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — About 600 U.S. teachers are expected to arrive in Israel with their families in July as immigrants, the Jewish Agency, in charge of immigration, announced here.

They will undergo a six-month Hebrew language course, and another six months of training in Israeli schools before starting work, probably in 1970, the agency said.

These examples demonstrate how tight our financial situation is. The 20 per cent of the income tax which will approximate $15,000.00 for the 3 quarterly collections available in 1969 will be the cushion to carry the city to December 31, 1969.

There is another point that needs explanation — the $180,000.00 on deposit in local banks drawing interest and apparently not being used. This money is what is termed inactive money. Inactive money is money that has been budgeted but which will not be spent for at least 6 months. As the tax distributions from the county are received, there is a time lag between receipt and disbursement and we are able to maintain this money in interest drawing accounts. The interest from these accounts goes into the general fund and can be used as needed. But, as the principal has been previously allocated, it cannot be spent for other than the original allocation.

The city has had a one mill levy for operating expenses. Council advised the public that with the enactment of the income tax this would not be renewed and it will not be on the November ballot. Since one mill produces $35,000.00 in Pickaway County and since 1/2 per cent or 5 mills in the case of the income tax produces $160,000.00 it is evident that our income tax result is the equivalent of a 4 mill tax.

The Finance Committee trusts this explanation will clear up any misunderstandings and if there are questions we shall endeavor to answer them.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some questions, observations and comments about the state of the American economy, especially as they relate to ordinary consumers and their quest for financial security:

Something Is Wrong
Despite the classic beauty of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation program isn't it badly off target when among the first effects to be felt are a decline in housing construction and a curtailment of student loans?

Because of an eight-month-old squeeze on the supply of money, home mortgage rates are now up to 7 1/2 per cent on average. Moreover, many requests for loans simply are turned down no matter how sound the borrower's finances.

The net result is that housing starts are down to around 1.4 million units a year, or hundreds of thousands of units fewer than are needed. In addition, at least one-third of the units are in large apartment houses. The one bright aspect of the housing picture is that in some areas the steep rise in prices has slowed. In fact, if you check with real estate brokers you'll find that the price tags on some houses have dropped in recent weeks.

The banks can charge only 7 per cent on government backed loans, while the basic lending rate to the best customers is 8.5 per cent.

Unless quick action is taken in the House of Representatives to improve the return to banks, as many as 200,000 students might be turned down in seeking loans for the fall semester.

The Mystery of Meat Prices
So far this year the average retail price of meat has risen more than 9 per cent. Since meats account for 25 to 30 per cent of the average grocery bill, it is obvious what this increase is doing to food budgets.

But why should meat prices rise so sharply when the supplies of meat are abundant? In the past, price increases generally were associated with a shortage of supplies. But there's no great shortage today.

The American Meat Institute, a producer's organization, claims that the only possible answer is a big increase in demands for meats, resulting partially from consumer prosperity. If so, that demand was indeed very sudden.

Has Detroit Misread The Consumer?

Some of the cleverest marketing brains are employed by General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. Using electronic and mathematical studies, they seemingly can read the brainwaves, desires, aspirations of ordinary Americans.

It appears that way from the reports, that is. The hard statistics show a different result. Americans, for example, continue to buy foreign cars in numbers that Detroit would never have believed a few years ago.

Last year more than a million imports were sold in the United States, giving foreign cars 10.7 per cent of the market. This year they've pushed that figure to 12.7 per cent. Foreign car sales rose in July; domestic sales were down.

Overkill
Although the anti-inflation policy of the Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration is just now showing some long delayed effects, a few economists already fear the measures have gone too far.

The chief weapon in curtailing inflation is restricting the flow of money to the economy. Its effects aren't really felt until months after the action and sometimes cannot be forecast accurately.

These worried economists fear that present actions are going to bring a very pronounced slowdown—even a recession — in a few months and that, therefore, the money spigots should be opened a bit right now.

They recall that similar measures were taken against the inflation of 1957-58, resulting in the steepest recession since the 1930s.

U.S. Teachers Travel To Israel

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — About 600 U.S. teachers are expected to arrive in Israel with their families in July as immigrants. The Jewish Agency, in charge of immigration, announced here.

They will undergo a six-month Hebrew language course, and another six months of training in Israeli schools before starting work, probably in 1970, the agency said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Since more trips are to be made to the moon, why not turn our lunar orb into a museum of mankind? Then if man, in a frenzy of self-hate, should ever destroy himself and his works on earth, a record of his race would still exist in artifacts preserved for ever in the cold storage vaults of the moon.

In some future con, perhaps intelligent forms of life from outer space might explore our solar system, stumble upon this treasure trove of human relics on the moon, and ponder the magnificence and misery of man.

No two people would draw up the same list, but certainly the moon museum would be incomplete without these mementoes: A bottle of aspirin tablets and a bottle of vitamin pills.

Copies of the Bible and the Koran.

A bow and arrow, a pistol, a rifle and a shotgun.

An encyclopedia, a multilingual dictionary, a world history, and collections of great world prose and poetry.

A very dry martini, a can of beer, and a magnum of champagne.

A wedding dress, a miniskirt, a bikini bathing suit, and a pair of nylon stockings.

A packet of hot dogs, a tin of tuna fish, a box of crunchy breakfast cereal, a piece of burnt toast, and jars of mustard, jam, marmalade, and peanut butter.

The farewell speech of Socrates and the latest oration of Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

An income tax form, a crossword puzzle, and several children's comic books.

Copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Communist Manifesto, and the U.S. Constitution.

Several pencils, a ball point pen, a can opener and an executive brief case containing a liverwurst sandwich doused with ketchup.

A yo yo, a hula hoop, a deck of cards and a pair of dice, sets of chess and checkers, and a book on astrology.

A broken vacuum cleaner, a broken washing machine, a broken power lawnmower, and a television set with a fuzzy screen.

Recordings by Elvis Presley, the Beatles, Julie Andrews, and any opera sung by Enrico Caruso.

A shimmering Christmas necktie, never worn.

A bottle of cola, a bottle of grape soda pop, an ice cream soda, a lump of sugar and a saccharine tablet.

An illustrated sex manual, a railroad timetable, a mail order catalog, a novel by Jacqueline Susann, and a collection of short stories by John O'Hara.

Some towels, bars of soap, and ashtrays: stolen from the Americana and New York Hilton hotels.

A collection of the best jokes told by Calvin Coolidge, Milton Berle and Bob Hope.

Surely some visitor from space, pawing through these exhibits in a lunar museum, would wonder why man survived the wear and tear of his own creations as long as he did.

Typical Tropical Topic Found In Foiled Fowl

By ALICE DENHOFF
If you are a tropical island buff (and who isn't?) and wish to re-create a tropical - style feast in your own island - your home - it can be done in the simplest possible fashion. Begin with two basic foods loved the world over - chicken and coconut.

Shall we get busy, then, with the recipes?

TROPICAL CHICKEN

2 broiler-fryers, cut in serving pieces
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 egg, slightly beaten

1 can (6 ounces) frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted

1-3 cups fine dry bread crumbs

1-4 cup butter or margarine, melted

1 can (3 1/2 ounces) or 1 1-3 cups flaked coconut

Rinse chicken pieces; pat with paper towel. Shake next 2 ingredients over both sides of chicken. Combine next 2 ingredients on a pie plate.

Combine next 2 ingredients on another pie plate; add coconut and mix well. Coat chicken pieces with pineapple mixture, then roll in coconut mixture. Place in 2 shallow, foil-lined baking pans.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. If chicken begins to brown too much before the end of baking time, cover loosely with foil (just lay foil over chicken, do not cover tightly).

Serves 8.

HAWAIIAN CHICKEN

2 broiler-fryers cut in serving pieces

1 1/2 cups cornflake crumbs

2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate

2 teaspoons salt

3/4 teaspoon pepper

3/4 cup evaporated milk

1 tablespoon soy sauce

Aluminum foil.

Rinse chicken pieces; pat with paper towels.

Combine cornflake crumbs with next 3 ingredients. Mix evaporated milk with soy sauce.

Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk then roll at once in seasoned cornflake crumbs.

Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in 350 degrees over about 1 hour, or until tender. No need to cover or turn chicken while cooking.

Recipe serves 8. Serve chicken with this delicious:

SWEET-PUNGENT SAUCE

2 tablespoons salad oil

1 medium onion, sliced

1 green pepper, sliced

1 tablespoon cornstarch

1 tablespoon sugar

2 teaspoons soy sauce

2 tablespoons vinegar

1 chicken bouillon cube

1 can (20 ounces) pineapple crumbs

Slivered toasted almonds

Heat oil; add next 2 ingredients and cook until crisp-tender. Combine next 4 ingredients; add to vegetables with bouillon cube. Stir in pineapple with liquid. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly; boil 1 minute. To serve, add toasted almonds.

Makes 3 cups sauce to go with chicken.

Creamy Peanut Butter Spreads Unique Appeal

By ALICE DENHOFF

St. Louis, Mo., has many claims to distinction, but two are paramount in sizzling summer. One is peanut butter, that joy of the juvenile set. It got its start way back in 1890 when a St. Louis physician was inspired to grind up some peanuts in a meat grinder, then to stir in a little salt and prescribe the mixture for his patients as an easily digested, high protein food. Wasn't long before this new "health food" became popular with young and old alike.

Beverage Beginning

Sometime later, St. Louis was the setting for the "invention" of another future favorite - iced tea. During the Exposition of 1904, hot tea was being served in a Far Eastern pavilion. When the weather turned stifling, almost unbearably hot, the enterprising young manager had a brain-storm. He poured the hot tea over ice. The idea caught on and iced tea became America's national summertime beverage ever since.

Team these two tried and true national favorites at snack time and you're sure to score a hit. The peanut butter can be combined with a grand variety of ingredients and spread on crackers, celery sticks or apple slices to make nutritious (and delicious) nibbles. And the iced tea, with its fresh, clean taste, is the ideal companion.

To prepare perfect iced tea, bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full, rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from the heat and immediately add 1-3 cup loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir and brew 5 minutes, uncovered. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of freshly drawn cold water. Keep at room temperature until ready to serve.

then put into ice-filled glasses. Serve with lemon and sugar to taste.

PEANUT CELERY STICKS

4 slices bacon

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter

1/2 cup drained sweet pickle relish

12 pieces celery, about 4 inches long

Fry bacon until crisp. Drain on paper towels. Break or chop into very fine pieces. Blend with peanut butter and relish. Spread on celery pieces. Refrigerate, covered with plastic wrap until needed.

PEANUT APPLEWICHES

2 medium-sized firm red apples

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 cup creamy peanut butter

2 teaspoons grated orange rind

1/2 teaspoon aromatic bitters

Wash, core and cut apples into about 1-8 inch slices. Place in dish and just cover with cold water mixed with the lemon juice. Let stand 10 to 12 minutes. Drain and dry on paper towels.

Blend remaining 3 ingredients. Make sandwiches of apple slices and peanut butter mixture. Refrigerate, covered tightly with plastic wrap until needed.

PEANUT BANANA SPREAD

1 medium banana, fully ripe

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter

1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Sesame crackers

Peel and mash banana to a pulp. Blend with peanut butter and lemon juice. Refrigerate, covered with plastic wrap, until needed. Let warm to room temperature for spreading on crackers.

Smith Family Schedules Annual Reunion

Descendants of Charles and Martha Smith will hold their annual reunion Sunday, Aug. 17, at Logan Elm Park.

Officers for the year are Edna Smith, president; Bob Smith, vice president; Marilyn Hardbarger, secretary; Leonard Cain, treasurer and Ellen Smith, historian.

Barb and Ted Davis, Marie and Charles Keaton and Donna and Darrell Dyke will be the game committee. The clean-up committee will be Bill Adams, Carl Smith and Bob Knece.

A picnic lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Charm School Slated For State Fair

Mrs. Frank Cummings of Sidney, a farm housewife who has made charm her business, will run two shows at the Ohio State Fair, "Expophio '69."

"What Makes Women Tick?" and "Our Secret Desire" are scheduled eight and seven days respectively of the 12 day state fair starting Sunday, Aug. 24.

Mrs. Cummings is a beauty specialist who believes that a woman's sparkle springs from self-confidence and not from an outward contrivance of mascara and paint.

This is the first beauty secret that Mrs. Cummings' students in her fashion school five miles from the farm, learn about becoming an attractive woman.

Mrs. Cummings will impart this, plus other ideas and tips on how to develop a more pleasant and appealing personality.

The two shows will be held in the auditorium at 12 noon and 3 p.m. The fair begins Thursday, Aug. 21 and continues through Sept. 1.

Lanman Reunion Held Sunday

The Lanman family reunion was held Sunday at Gold Cliff Park with 35 persons attending.

After the carry in dinner was served, the remainder of the day was spent swimming, skating and playing games.

For the coming year John Bell will serve as president and Hazel Yeatts as secretary and treasurer.

Next year the reunion will be held Aug. 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dean, Williamsport.

Teacher, Wife

Travel On Bikes

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — School teacher Paul Gleye, 25, and his wife Judith wanted to see the country on their way from Bath, Me., to visit his parents in Santa Fe.

So they bicycled—with packs on their backs—2,800 miles across the United States in 61 days.

"It's hard to really see the country in a car because you're moving too fast," Gleye said.

"We felt it would be a challenge to ride bicycles across the country and sleep in a tent along the way."

"All the way across country people were friendly and eager to help us," Gleye said. "Most were interested in what we were doing, but some thought we were just nuts."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Does A 'Friend' Hunt For Dust?

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is such a poor housekeeper I'm afraid she'll lose her husband. I'm not talking about the normal daily accumulation of dust, but I have seen shoes under beds, and soiled laundry stuffed into drawers. I've even seen dirty dishes stored in her oven until she "gets around to them" which sometimes takes days!

Her husband is a fine man with a good position in a first rate firm, and if it became known that he lives in a dirty home it would discredit him with his associates. How can I tell her for her own good?

A DEAR FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If you are that "close," tip her off, but if you aren't—let it go at that and let them bear the consequences. And by the way, why would anyone look under the beds, in the drawers and the oven while visiting a "dear" friend?

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I came across a letter written to my husband by a woman he used to go with. (She is also married now.) In it, she practically begs my husband to see her again and resume an affair with him.

I found out where she lived and went to see her—with the letter. She wasn't home, but

Cincy Summer Opera Again To Be In Zoo

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Summer Opera will be held next year for the 50th time to the "tune" of lions, monkeys and geese.

The opera was to have been moved to Music Hall here during 1970, but renovation of the facility has been delayed and the opera will stay at the Cincinnati Zoo.

her husband was. He invited me in and I did a terrible thing. I told him why I had come, and I showed him the letter.

When he read it there were tears in his eyes. He then asked me if I loved my husband, and if I thought my husband loved me. I told him yes, we had a very happy marriage. Then he told me to go home, burn the letter, and never mention it to my husband.

I am so ashamed of myself, Abby, I don't know what to do. I hurt that kind, gentle man who was innocent of any wrongdoing. I took his advice and burned the letter, and never mentioned it to my husband, but I still feel sick inside.

If you print this, it may prevent some other foolish woman from doing what I did, but please don't disclose my location.

SICK INSIDE

DEAR SICK: Such a wise calm man deserves a better break than your victim. What's done is done, so don't dwell on it. And if your letter prevents even one "hurt" party from hurting an innocent person, it's worth printing.

DEAR ABBY: I think my wife has flipped her lid. After five children, eight grandchildren and 30 years of marriage, she's decided that there will be no more kissing or touching or ANYTHING!

She is 50, looks 40, and has always been loving and affectionate. Now all of a sudden she says, "We're too old for that stuff!"

I asked if she thought we should live like brother and sister for the rest of our lives, and she said, "Why not? We've had 30 good years . . . lots of people don't get that much."

Our last child got married recently and now we have the whole house to ourselves.

I have never considered any other woman, but boy, if my wife means this (and for four months she's been this way) I am going to start to look around. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR PUZZLED: Something is wrong here. You are not "too old" for "that stuff"—and neither is your wife. Ask her to level with you. There must be another reason.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

U.S. Effort In Biological Warfare Undergoes Analysis

The Circleville Herald, Sat. Aug. 3, 1969
Circleville, Ohio

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With weapons seen and unseen, the United States has been preparing secretly during this decade for a kind of war where chemicals and germs kill man, his animals and crops.

This chemical biological warfare—CBW—effort is expensive, controversial—and becoming more so—and almost as hush-hush as the development of the atomic bomb in 1945.

Budget figures have been classified, but an AP examination indicates the CBW program has consumed about $2.5 billion since 1960 with little debate in Congress.

Some 5,000 technicians are involved in a network of military labs, arsenals and test areas across the country, busily researching, developing and laying away or maintaining ready production lines for gas and germ weapons.

Size of the U.S. stockpile is secret but appears to encompass millions of pounds of agents ranging from relatively mild CS tear gas—used in Vietnam—to poisonous GA, GB and V nerve agents—odorless, tasteless, invisible kill-in-seconds materials.

Biological or germ weapons can't be stored for more than a few days before their living payloads become sterile, but the Pentagon keeps a pilot production line at Pine Bluff, Ark., prepared to crank out weapons upon hours notice.

Virtually any piece of military ordnance, from missiles to grenades, can be packed with deadly gases. U.S. forces, trained in being able to convert from conventional to chemical warfare, have ready access to chemical weapon stocks not only in the United States but West Germany, Okinawa and possibly other forward areas.

The military defends this hidden arsenal as a form of public health in reverse, but the secretiveness shrouding the CBW program has fostered a horror reaction among many people.

Why do we need them, anyway, when we've got nuclear bombs and missiles?

How did we come to develop this awful capability and how would we ever use it?

The name of the game, according to defense planners, is "deterrence."

Says Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird: "As much as we deplore this kind of a weapon, if we want to make sure that it is never used, there should be one lesson that we've learned from history and that is to have the capability ourselves. This capability should be understood clearly—that we will never use it first, but we will only use it as a deterrent should some other nation be foolish enough to."

This theme is expanded as an interview with one civilian who is closely linked to CBW planning.

"If we are attacked with chemical weapons it leaves us with three options," this official says. "You can go on fighting with just conventional weapons. You can attack him, retaliating with chemical weapons. Or you can attack him with tactical nuclear weapons."

War games, or the computerized calculation of conflicts, show that "if you use conventional weapons and he uses conventional plus chemicals, then you lose," he said. U.S. forces would have to don protective equipment—masks and suits. As a result, he said, troops communicate poorly, maneuver slowly, fight weakly. Responding with chemical weapons forces the enemy into protective measures as well, and both sides then fight on relatively equal terms.

Laird says the United States cannot turn to its nuclear missiles to deter a chemical or biological attack because that "would engage us in a much larger exchange."

The U.S. chemical biological program is under review within the government and under attack from without. Recent incidents involving the military's experiments, stocking and disposal of CBW agents have increased public and congressional concern.

Last year, an aircraft laid down a cloud of nerve gas that missed its test zone at Dugway Proving Ground in Utah, killing thousands of sheep on a nearby ranch. The Army, insisting to the last that it couldn't connect the deaths to its nerve gas test, nonetheless paid damages to the ranch.

Later came disclosure that the Army proposed shipping 27,000 tons of surplus mustard and nerve gas cross-country aboard 800 rail cars for a water grave in the Atlantic. Under pressure from Congress, the Army heard recommendations from the National Academy of Sciences and has decided it can, after all, dispose of much of the gas surplus on land.

Finally, a leaky GB gas weapon which exposed 24 men to possible death forced an acknowledgment from the Pentagon last month that U.S. gas weapons are stored on Okinawa and other overseas areas. West Germany has reported officially it has depots with American chemical weapons—but no germ bombs—on German soil.

While Laird has said he wants the chemical stocks maintained, he does question whether all is being done to insure the safety of population centers near major chemical stores. He has requested, and is getting, a National Security Council review of the whole CBW program.

Congress in the meantime is getting restless, and the CBW program—funded lavishly the past seven or eight years—is encountering its first major budget cuts.

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., who helped turn the glare of publicity on the Army's Atlantic disposal plan, is one of the chief congressional critics.

On the Senate side, Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., are proposing several restrictions on CBW.

The senators would ban procurement of delivery systems for lethal CBW agents, prohibit open air testing of nerve agents or any pathogenic biological organism, and guarantee consultations with Congress and foreign governments before deployment of CBW agents overseas.

The Senate Armed Services Committee already has stripped $16 million from the CBW budget to halt research of new offensive chemical and biological weapons, but the program has strong support in the House.

"I don't think anything like a substantial group could want to eliminate our CBW program and leave us naked to our opponents in this field," Rep. George D. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, said in an interview.

"It's a very unpleasant business, but we also have ICBM's which can pulverize towns and cities, and kill tens of millions of people, and that's a pretty bad thought, too," Mahon added.

Pentagon experts say they got what amounted to a directive to do more in developing gas and germ warfare when the House Committee on Science and Astronautics issued a report in 1959.

That report concluded that the United States was seriously lagging in chemical and biological warfare expertise and urged that research be "at least trebled" from the level then of $35 million to $45 million per year.

Pentagon authorities told a reporter the Soviet Union today possesses a stockpile of chemical weapons five to eight times as large as the United States.

Further, the Soviets have stated on several occasions that the next wide-scale war would include all forms of weapons, chemical and biological included.

Chemical agents in the U.S. stockpile range from tear gases like those used by police for riot control—CS, CN, DM—to incapacitants that put men in a blank-faced stupor—BZ—to death-upon-contact nerve agents—VX.

The United States also has spent $100 million for herbicides and defoliants for use in Vietnam to kill crops and vegetation.

There is also the older GA or Tabun nerve gas, a bit less potent, which the Soviets also began stocking after they seized a German poison factory in World War II.

The United States has experimented extensively with psycho-chemicals or incapacitants such as LSD-25 and BZ but has not developed one good enough to be a standard weapon.

In addition to the G types, the Army has a V series which, though not more deadly than the regular nerve gases, has the military advantage of poisoning their victims through the skin, rendering gas masks useless.

Ninety per cent of the CBW work is done, according to defense officials, at Pine Bluff, Edgewood Arsenal, Md.; Desert Test Center at Salt Lake City; and Dugway. Pine Bluff houses the ever-ready germ production lines. Edgewood has been concocting gas weapons since 1943. Dugway tests them. Desert tests the germ weapons.

In the biological area, the Army is concerned with developing hardy strains of disease which would be resistant to an enemy's vaccines. These range from incapacitating maladies as the common cold, influenza and measles, to such lethal diseases as Tularemia, smallpox, anthrax and the plague.

The Pentagon has withheld CBW spending figures in the past and even congressional experts say some of the costs are cloaked, if not deliberately hidden, in the defense budget.

Military sources report the CBW spending peaked at $355 in the fiscal year ending last June 30, and for fiscal 1970 the Pentagon is seeking $270 million.

The reduction is attributed to the fact that the Pentagon has the chemical production pipeline set, a buildup of stocks and defensive gear has been attained and the only need now is to maintain normal inventory replacements.

The United States is not a party to any treaty that prohibits or restricts the use in warfare of toxic or nontoxic chemical agents or of biological operations.

The Mayor's Report

Progress Account

By MAYOR RICHARD L. GERHARDT

In the last several months several improvements have been made of which I am sure most of you have now become aware.

As reported to Council at their last meeting the second phase of up-grading the City's street lights has been completed. The first phase emphasized lights in the schedule areas the second phase emphasized the upgrading of lights on the City's main thoroughfares. The new lights installed are three times brighter than the ones before. The third and final phase is expected to get underway in the spring of next year. At that time, it is anticipated that additional lights will be added where they are needed.

The paving and surface treating of the streets has been begun and will continue throughout the summer and fall. In recent weeks there has been and intensive effort directed at trying to fill every chuck hole throughout the City. The Service Department has had a crew repairing holes continuously for nearly four weeks and it seems that they have finally been able to get around to almost every street. If a hole has been missed, please call 474-8484 and we will get it fixed.

Work on the Master Plan has been continuing and the planning commission has been busy meeting with Circleville's planning consultant on it. Rough drafts are being worked on. The Commission hopes to be able to present in a series of meetings with the public, the preliminary plans. The plans to be presented will include an economic study, transportation study, population study, utilities study, geographical study, land use study, neighborhood analysis, and later on a central business study. The completion of it will do much to insure and improve the orderly growth of the City.

The utilities department has begun replacing the older fire hydrants which are in need of repairs. While there will be some inconvenience due to the water being turned off from time to time, it is important that the new hydrants be installed so that your fire protection is kept at the highest possible degree.

We will continue to keep you informed of the improvements being contemplated or made and we encourage your comments and opinion.

Breaking Faith With God

A DECISION BORN OF FEAR KEEPS AN ENTIRE NATION FROM ENJOYING GOD'S BLESSINGS

Scripture—Numbers 13-14.

By R. H. RAMSEY

BETWEEN the Exodus from Egypt and the entrance to the Promised Land occurred the journey from Egypt to Palestine which even for such a great multitude should not have taken more than two months. Instead it took forty years. In today's lesson we shall learn the reason for such a setback in God's timetable.

Our lesson begins with God speaking to Moses, ordering him to select one man from each of the twelve tribes of Israel for a reconnaissance into the land of Canaan. They were to survey the land and assess its possibilities for settlement, look over the inhabitants and determine whether they were warrior or peaceful people and whether they lived in fortified cities or in the open, and return with samples of the fruit grown there.

The spies were gone forty days and probably saw most of Palestine from the area where the Israelites expected to first enter Canaan all the way to the northern boundary. They re-believe the majority report and reacted accordingly. They cried out and wept. They had already forgotten the rigors of bondage and could see nothing but trouble and suffering ahead. They murmured—a gainst Moses, against Aaron, even against God for bringing them so far. Better to have died in Egypt or in the Wilderness than to have to face these new difficulties. Some who wished to return to Egypt were ready to select a leader to take them back.

Moses, Aaron, Joshua and Caleb sought to quell the rebellion and persuade the people to trust in Jehovah and enter the Promised Land. For this the four would have been stoned had not "the glory of the Lord" suddenly appeared in the Tabernacle.

The Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron. He had heard the murmurings of the people and was determined to punish them for rejecting their covenant to obey whatever He commanded through Moses. Now Moses had to persuade the Lord not to turned bringing with them figs, pomegranates and a cluster of grapes so huge it took two men to carry it on a pole between them.

God's word was true. Canaan was indeed a land flowing with milk and honey—all the spies were in agreement on this. The land which the Lord had promised them was a wonderful land . . . but . . . a successful invasion would be impossible. The inhabitants of the land were strong, the cities were large and strongly fortified with high walls, and the men they had seen were of great stature, giants next to whom the Israelites would seem as grasshoppers.

Two of the twelve spies—Caleb and Joshua—had different thoughts on the situation. They did not deny the truthfulness of what the other spies had said, but they were persuaded that God would keep His promise and give them the land as they advanced into it. With His help the Israelites could conquer Canaan, despite giants and fortified cities.

The people, however, chose to pour out His wrath on the chosen people.

He was successful. Jehovah would forgive, but these stubborn, rebellious people would be punished. They had said it would have been better had they died in Egypt or in the Wilderness? God took them at their word. None of the Israelites twenty years old or more, who came out of Egypt, will be allowed to enter the Promised Land, with the exception of Caleb and Joshua.

The people would wander in the Wilderness forty years—one year for each day in which the spies searched the land of Canaan. And the spies who had slandered the land which God had given them would die of the plague.

Hearing this the people realized their error and the evilness of their unbelief and determined to enter the Promised Land. Aware that the hour for possession had passed, Moses tried to dissuade them. But the people persisted and went up without the Ark of the Covenant. As Moses had predicted they were defeated.

Discover Man Lived In Manhole

TORONTO (AP) — The manhole Svetomir Kusmanovich lived in for three years wasn't a castle but it was warm and cheap and not even the bugs bothered him.

"The bugs weren't nice, but they didn't really bother me when I was asleep—at least I didn't feel them around me," he said Thursday. "Nothing really bothered me."

He was removed from the 6½-by-5-foot manhole Wednesday and charged with vagrancy. The charge was dropped after a Salvation Army officer said the 55-year-old Kusmanovich would be housed in a hostel.

Kusmanovich slept on a wooden bed across steam pipes—which warmed the manhole in winter but drove the temperature to 120 degrees in summer. He had a cupboard for the two bottles of wine, four loaves of stale bread and stale grease he bought weekly.

Cincy Reds Again Blast Philadelphia Phillies; Win, 12-5

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen might want to get away from Philadelphia, but not the Cincinnati Reds, who make quite a hit with the Phillies.

While Allen was re-emphasizing his ambition to leave Philadelphia Friday night, the Reds were blasting the Phillies 12-5 on the field.

Only last Sunday, the Reds unloaded for a 19-17 victory over the Phillies that put them in first place in the National League's West Division for the first time this season, and Friday night's triumph kept them there.

Cincinnati had started the night five percentage points ahead of Atlanta, which beat the New York Mets 1-0 in 11 innings after losing 4-1, and fell a half game and 10 points back.

San Francisco dropped 1½ games back by losing a 4-3 decision to the red-hot St. Louis Cardinals.

Los Angeles climbed within a half game of the Giants with a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs on Bill Singer's two-hitter and Houston, 4½ lengths behind, beat Montreal 5-2. In the other game Pittsburgh hammered San Diego 7-1.

The Reds, running their record to 7-2 with 61 runs against the Phillies, unloaded five home runs and five-run innings in the sixth and seventh to bury Philadelphia, playing for the first time under interim

Manager George Myatt.

It was like batting practice as Lee May hit his 31st homer in the sixth and Johnny Bench followed with his 15th after Alex Johnson hit one in the first and Ted Savage connected in the third.

Pete Rose finished it off with a homer in the seventh as the Reds made it 10 victories in 12 games.

The Phillies got homers from Deron Johnson and Larry Hise, but Allen went hitless after blasting Bob Skinner earlier in the day and retorting that "all I want to do is get out of Philadelphia."

Skinner had resigned Thursday, saying that the Phillies front office had not backed him in meeting out punishment for the unpredictable Allen, who has jumped the team several times and then refused to play in an exhibition game Thursday.

The Braves, in contrast to the slugging Reds, were not much of a hit against the Mets, whose Jerry Koosman blanked them in the opener until Bob Tillman homered with two out in the ninth. Koosman, 9-7, gave only seven hits.

Ross Reed of the Braves and Gary Gentry of the Mets matched four-hitters for the first nine innings of the nightcap before the Braves broke through against Ron Taylor in the 10th on Felipe Alou's one-out single through a drawn in infield with the bases loaded.

The Giants fell before rookie right-hander Chuck Taylor, 4-1, who pitched a six-hitter and survived Willie McCovey's 35th homer in the ninth inning as the Cardinals won their 10th game in 12 outings.

The Cardinals jumped on Gaylord Perry, 14-8, for three runs in the second inning and Tim McCarver doubled in the decisive run in the eighth.

Willie Mays played right field for the Giants, with Bobby Bonds taking over his usual centerfield spot.

Buffalo Bills Top Redskins; Rams Beat Dallas Cowboys

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

Vince Lombardi probably would have blown his top in his coaching days at Green Bay if the National Football League Packers had lost to an American League club, even in an exhibition game.

At Buffalo, N.Y. Friday night, he probably just kept muttering to himself as the Buffalo Bills of the AFL whipped his new team, the Washington Redskins, 21-17.

It was the first time a Lombardi-coached team has ever lost to an AFL club. His Packers routed Kansas City and Oakland in the first two Super Bowl games.

The Buffalo-Washington game was one of two games Friday that opened a 12-game weekend exhibition slate in pro football. In the other, the Rams downed the Dallas Cowboys in Los Angeles 24-17.

Eight games are scheduled for tonight with the remaining two for Sunday.

In the absence of O. J. Simpson, the Bills' No. 1 draft choice who has yet to sign a contract, Max Anderson led the Buffalo attack. He carried the ball 10 times for 59 yards and set up the winning touchdown in the last period by snaring a 25-yard pass from Tom Flores on the Washington one.

The Bills were penalized five yards to the six, but then Flores threw the winning TD to Haven Moses. This erased a 17-14 Redskins lead gained on two touchdowns passes by Sonny Jurgensen. One was a 12-yarder to Pat Richter, the other a 19-yarder to Jerry Smith.

The largest crowd in 10 years, 87,381, watched the Rams beat the Cowboys in the annual Los Angeles Times Charity game.

An 85-yard touchdown pass play from Roman Gabriel to Wendell Tucker and a blocked punt recovery for another TD gave the Rams a 24-3 lead in the third period, a sufficient cushion to offstage the Cowboys' two touchdowns in the last period.

Craig Morton, taking over at quarterback for the retired Don Meredith, threw two 68-yard touchdown passes for the late Dallas scores. One was to Bob Hayes, the other to Lance Rentzel.

Six inter-league exhibitions, Detroit at Kansas City, Baltimore at Oakland, Chicago at Miami, Denver at Minnesota, New Orleans at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis, feature tonight's schedule.

In the others, Atlanta plays Philadelphia at Portland, Ore. and the New York Giants are at Green Bay.

North Wins Prep Grid Game, 16-8

By JOHN R. SKINNER Associated Press Writer

CANTON Ohio (AP) — A halftime decision to test one segment of the South's defensive armor proved the key to a 16-8 victory for the North Friday night in the 24th annual high school football all-star game.

"We just decided to run to the left," Head North Coach Ron Chismar said. "Every play but two went to the left."

And Galbos and Root put on a show of power running to allow the North to dominate second half play after trailing 8-7 at halftime before a record all-star turnout of 18,011 fans at Canton's Fawcett Stadium.

Galbos, a 205-pounder headed for Ohio State University, ran eight times for 49 yards in an 83-yard third quarter drive that resulted in the go-ahead touchdown.

Root, a Michigan State University-bound 210-pounder, ran for 33 yards in seven carries, including the final yard for the score. Root's conversion run failed.

Oilers Down Dairy, 19-8

Circleville Oil defeated Blue Ribbon Dairy, 19-8, Friday in a Little League Minor game in the Circleville Youth Baseball program.

Jackie Moore was the winning pitcher, walking four, fanning six and allowing 14 hits.

Byron Edgington hit a homerun for the winners. Mike Reemer cracked two triples in four trips. Jackie Moore had three hits, including a double. Scott Bauer had a single and a double. Denny Strawser had three hits, including a double. Boltenhouse and Carroll had four hits each, all singles.

Mike Zimmerman Scores Win In Ohio Golf Tourney

By HAL PARIS Associated Press Sports Writer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—"I hit super all week. But I was very fortunate."

That was the way young Mike Zimmerman of Dayton summed up his convincing triumph in the Ohio Public Golfers tournament Friday.

Zimmerman, a 23-year-old time study analyst, rode a final round one-under-par 70 to a smashing six-stroke victory over Daytonian Walter Law.

His rounds of 69-67-73-70-279 were six-under for the distance on the 6,249-yard Community Golf Course. Law, a 28-year-old salesman, finished with a 72 for a 285 total.

Zimmerman started the final day on his home course with a comfortable four-stroke advantage over Law. But a birdie by Law on the second hole and bogeys by Zimmerman on Nos. 2 and 3 cut the deficit to one shot.

"I knew my lead was cut but it didn't bother me much," Zimmerman said. "I was more shaky Thursday when I shot a 73. Even though I three-putted those two bogey holes, I felt my stroke was good."

And the 6-foot-2, 190-pound power hitter showed he could withstand the pressure. He birdied Nos. 6, 10, 13 and 14 before taking another bogey on No. 15 when he hit into a trap.

Law missed a two-foot putt on No. 5 for a bogey and never recovered. By the 10th hole, Zimmerman had his four-shot lead again and cruised home.

"This is the biggest tournament I've ever won," he said proudly. Zimmerman came close to winning the public links crown in 1967 when he finished third and last year when he came in tied for fourth.

Ed Moehling Shares Lead In Golf Clash

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Ed Moehling, who once left the tour "with a credit card and a nickel," used the wind and a wedge to climb into a share of the top spot in the $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Moehling, a 28-year-old who dropped off the tour when he ran out of money in 1963, fired a three-under-par 69 Friday and moved into a tie for the 36-hole lead with Fred Marti, a longtime also-ran.

Each had a 141, three under par for 63 holes on the 7,075-yard North Shore Country Club course, a layout made double tough by the high, gusty winds that have plagued the event for two days.

Marti, a tall, rangy blond, had a second round 70 that he described as "kind of uneventful."

One stroke back in this event that was passed up by most of the great names of the game were four players tied at 142. They were rookie pro John Miller who slipped to a 74. Steve Opperman and South African Allan Henning, each 73, and Peter Townsend of England, the first round leader who went to a 75.

South Africa's Gary Player had a 70 and headed a group of six at 143. The others were Phil Rodgers and Rocky Thompson, each 71. Jerry Abbott, 72, and Jim Wiechers and Bob Lunn, each 73.

Arnold Palmer rallied with a 71 for 147, but was well back, defending champion Dave Stockton shot a 73 for 150 and failed to make the cut for the final two rounds. It took a score of 149 to make it.

Moehling, who plays out of Golf, Ill., has made only $166.67 on the tour this year, and shot a 74 in Monday's qualifying round to make it into this one.

Steamin Missile Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Steamin Missile toured the mile in 2:02 3-5 Friday night to win the featured $6,000 invitational trot at Scioto Downs and pay $6.40, $3 and $2.40.

Lil Rodney returned $2.80 and $2.20 for place, while Little Master was worth $2.60 for show.

The 2-5 daily double paid $110.20 and the 4-5 quinella returned $132.

A crowd of 6,284 bet $274,791.

Third National Upsets VFW; Wins In Pony Action

The Third National Bank upset second seeded VFW in the only Pony League action last night, 15-14.

Third National now has a 6-5 record for the year. VFW has seven wins and five losses.

Jeff Walisa tagged a homer for the losers and Keith Hoop hit two doubles.

For the winning Third Bank team, Allan Hawks tapped a double while Chris Kline and John Walker also hit two basers.

KLINE was the winning hurler for the Bankers. He went the whole tilt fanning two and giving up 22 hits.

Laurelville Wins County Minor Tourney

LWBA Sets Meet

The Lancaster Women's Bowling Association workshop is to be held 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Moose Hall, 123 E. Main Street.

Hoop. Paul England helped Hoop out in the third stanza and John Ankrom relieved him in the fourth. Together they allowed 16 hits, 16 bases on balls and they whiffed ten batters.

VFW tallied two runs in the first inning, three in the second, five in the fourth, three in the fifth, and one in the sixth. The Bankers hit three in the first inning, two in the second, three in the third stanza, one in each of the next three innings and four runs in the last to win on 16 hits.

Stanhope, Rogers Win At Speedway

Bob Stanhope captured the modified feature race at Salt-creek Valley Speedway Friday and John Rogers swept to a victory in the stock car feature.

Mike Wilson was second in the modified event, Roy Pierce third, Avery Conley four, Paul Cohan fifth and Ralph Thomas sixth.

In the stock event, Dick French was second, Ernie Adams third, Merle Pierce fourth, John Strawser fifth and Fred Payne sixth.

Avery Conley was the fastest qualifier in the modified race and Tom Congrove the fastest for the straight stocks. Paul Cohan won the helmet dash.

Larry Weaver won the first heat of stock racing. Merle Pierce was second and Ernie Adams third. Roy Pierce topped the second heat of the program, a modified event, and Jim Davis was second and Ray Hart third.

Tom Congrove was the third heat winner. Roy McMillan was second and Steve Walker third.

Ailing Shoulder Benches Pitcher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 14 year pitching career of Dodger ace Don Drysdale may be over because of a recurring injury that's making it too painful for him to pitch.

"I believe," said Drysdale, "that it would be best if I were taken off the active list, making room for a pitcher who could help the club."

Drysdale, 33, has a 5-4 record for the season with 209-166 life-time record.

The decision was apparently reached after a Friday night meeting between Drysdale and Dodger executive vice president Peter O'Malley. Previously, Drysdale said he talked the situation over with his wife Ginger and with O'Malley.

Baseball Correction

In the Circle Auto Parts vs K of C Black Division title game, it was reported that Mike Wickline tagged a homer. Chuck Cave hit the homer instead of Wickline.

U.S. Scores Victory

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (AP) — The United States scored a come-from-behind victory over Britain Friday to win the Palma team match at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet. The Americans scored 4,058 out of a possible 4,500 at 1,000 yards to Britain's 4,040.

Raina Lobell Wins At Scioto

Raina Lobell, a 4-year-old bay mare owned by Donna Jean Anderson, Route 4, added the winner's share of the $2,000 purse of the eight race at Scioto Downs to her lifetime earnings Friday.

Jim Mace was in the sulky when the pacer crossed the finish line 1¼ lengths ahead of Fishing Lady.

Trained by Jim Arledge of Circleville, Raina Lobell returned $16.40, $8.60 and $5.40 at the pari-mutuel windows. Time of the mile was 2:04.3-5.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington walloped Seattle 10-3, California edged Boston 7-6, Cleveland dropped Kansas City 7-4 and Detroit swept a doubleheader from Chicago, 7-3 and 9-7.

Minnesota carried a 5-2 lead into the ninth against the Orioles but Andy Etchebarren opened with a single and one out later, Don Buford also singled. Paul Blair walked to load the bases and Frank Robinson singled two runs home.

Powell followed with another single, tying the score and sending Frank Robinson to third. Then, with a 1-1 count on Brooks Robinson, Powell took off for second and stole the base on the second strike.

Martin decided to waste the 1-2 count and walk Robinson intentionally to set up the possible double play. But Johnson's sacrifice fly crossed the strategy and won it for the Orioles.

Downing, burdened by arm

Orioles, Yankees Score Wins

Powell stole a base—his first of the season—forcing Twins' Manager Billy Martin to waste a 1-2 count on Brooks Robinson and walk him instead in the ninth inning Friday night. Dave Johnson followed with the sacrifice fly that gave the Orioles a comeback 6-5 victory over the Twins.

Downing, rescued from the pitching scrap heap, responded with a four-hit shutout, pitching the Yankees' past Oakland 5-0 in the second game of a two-night doubleheader after the A's had rallied to take the opener 5-3 in 10 innings.

trouble for most of the last two seasons, retired the first 12 Oakland batters he faced and allowed only four singles. It was only his second start of the year and he was locked in a scoreless duel with Jim "Catfish" Hunter until the seventh.

Then Horace Clarke poked a two-run single to put New York on top and rookie catcher Thurmon Munson, who had his first major league hit in the seventh, singled two more across in the next inning.

Oakland tied the opener in the ninth inning on a pinch double by Ted Kubiak and won it an inning later with singles by Rick Monday, Dick Green and Bert Campaneris and Larry Haney's double.

Washington packed 10 runs into the sixth and seventh innings to thump Seattle. Hank Allen had three hits for the Senators, who roared from behind with four runs in the sixth inning and six more in the seventh.

Aurelio Rodriguez doubled home two runs in the ninth inning, pulling California past Boston. Jim Fregosi opened the inning with a single and Bubba Morton walked in front of Rodriguez' hit. Carl Yastrzemski tagged his 30th homer and the Red Sox carried a 6-5 lead into the ninth.

Duke Sims, given a second chance when third baseman Paul Schaal dropped his pop foul, unloaded a three-run first inning homer that started Cleveland toward its victory over Kansas City. Joe Foy homered for the Royals.

Willie Horton hammered a three-run homer in the first inning and Bill Freehan chased home two more with a triple in the third, moving Detroit past Chicago in the first game of their doubleheader.

Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning decided the nightcap.

Typical Tropical Topic Found In Foiled Fowl

By ALICE DENHOFF
If you are a tropical island buff (and who isn't?) and wish to re-create a tropical - style feast in your own island - your home - it can be done in the simplest possible fashion. Begin with two basic foods loved the world over - chicken and coconut.

Shall we get busy, then, with the recipes?

TROPICAL CHICKEN
2 broiler-fryers, cut in serving pieces
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 can (8 ounces) frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1 1/3 cups fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 can (3 1/2 ounces) or 1 1-3 cups flaked coconut

Rinse chicken pieces; pat with paper towel. Shake next 2 ingredients over both sides of chicken. Combine next 2 ingredients on a pie plate. Combine next 2 ingredients on another pie plate; add coconut and mix well. Coat chicken pieces with pineapple mixture, then roll in coconut mixture. Place in 2 shallow, foil-lined baking pans.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. If chicken begins to brown too much before the end of baking time, cover loosely with foil (just lay foil over chicken, do not cover tightly).

Serves 8.

HAWAIIAN CHICKEN
2 broiler-fryers cut in serving pieces

1 1/2 cups cornflake crumbs
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Aluminum foil.
Rinse chicken pieces; pat with paper towels.

Combine cornflake crumbs with next 3 ingredients. Mix evaporated milk with soy sauce. Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk then roll at once in seasoned cornflake crumbs.

Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in 350 degrees over about 1 hour, or until tender. No need to cover or turn chicken while cooking.

Recipe serves 8. Serve chicken with this delicious:

SWEET-PUNGENT SAUCE
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 medium onion, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple crumbs
Slivered toasted almonds

Heat oil; add next 2 ingredients and cook until crisp-tender. Combine next 4 ingredients; add to vegetables with bouillon cube. Stir in pineapple with liquid. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly; boil 1 minute. To serve, add toasted almonds.

Makes 3 cups sauce to go with chicken.

By ALICE DENHOFF
St. Louis, Mo., has many claims to distinction, but two are paramount in sizzling summer. One is peanut butter, that joy of the juvenile set. It got its start way back in 1890 when a St. Louis physician was inspired to grind up some peanuts in a meat grinder, then to stir in a little salt and prescribe the mixture for his patients as an easily digested, high protein food. Wasn't long before this new "health food" became popular with young and old alike.

Beverage Beginning
Sometime later, St. Louis was the setting for the "invention" of another future favorite - iced tea. During the Exposition of 1904, hot tea was being served in a Far Eastern pavilion. When the weather turned stifling, almost unbearably hot, the enterprising young manager had a brain-storm. He poured the hot tea over ice. The idea caught on and iced tea became America's national summertime beverage ever since.

Team these two tried and true national favorites at snack time and you're sure to score a hit. The peanut butter can be combined with a grand variety of ingredients and spread on crackers, celery sticks or apple slices to make nutritious (and delicious) nibbles. And the iced tea, with its fresh, clean taste, is the ideal companion.

To prepare perfect iced tea, bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full, rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from the heat and immediately add 1-3 cup loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir and brew 5 minutes, uncovered. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of freshly drawn cold water. Keep at room temperature until ready to serve.

Charm School Slated For State Fair

Mrs. Frank Cummings of Sidney, a farm housewife who has made charm her business, will run two shows at the Ohio State Fair, "Expohio '69."

"What Makes Women Tick?" and "Our Secret Desire" are scheduled eight and seven days respectively of the 12 day state fair starting Sunday, Aug. 24.

Mrs. Cummings is a beauty specialist who believes that a woman's sparkle springs from self-confidence and not from an outward contrivance of mascara and paint.

This is the first beauty secret that Mrs. Cummings' students in her fashion school five miles from the farm, learn about becoming an attractive woman.

Mrs. Cummings will impart this, plus other ideas and tips on how to develop a more pleasant and appealing personality.

The two shows will be held in the auditorium at 12 noon and 3 p.m. The fair begins Thursday, Aug. 21 and continues through Sept. 1.

Lanman Reunion Held Sunday

The Lanman family reunion was held Sunday at Gold Cliff Park with 35 persons attending.

After the carry in dinner was served, the remainder of the day was spent swimming, skating and playing games.

For the coming year John Bell will serve as president and Hazel Yeatts as secretary and treasurer.

Teacher, Wife Travel On Bikes

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — School teacher Paul Gleye, 25, and his wife Judith wanted to see the country on their way from Bath, Me., to visit his parents in Santa Fe.

So they bicycled—with packs on their backs—2,800 miles across the United States in 61 days.

"It's hard to really see the country in a car because you're moving too fast," Gleye said. "We felt it would be a challenge to ride bicycles across the country and sleep in a tent along the way."

"All the way across country people were friendly and eager to help us," Gleye said. "Most were interested in what we were doing, but some thought we were just nuts."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Does A 'Friend' Hunt For Dust?

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is such a poor housekeeper I'm afraid she'll lose her husband. I'm not talking about the normal daily accumulation of dust, but I have seen shoes under beds, and soiled laundry stuffed into drawers. I've even seen dirty dishes stored in her oven until she "gets around to them" which sometimes takes days!

Her husband is a fine man with a good position in a first rate firm, and if it became known that he lives in a dirty home it would discredit him with his associates. How can I tell her for her own good?

A DEAR FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If you are that "close," tip her off, but if you aren't—let it go at that and let them bear the consequences. And by the way, why would anyone look under the beds, in the drawers and the oven while visiting a "dear" friend?

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I came across a letter written to my husband by a woman he used to go with. (She is also married now.) In it, she practically begs my husband to see her again and resume an affair with him.

I found out where she lived and went to see her—with the letter. She wasn't home, but

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Richie Allen might want to get away from Philadelphia, but not the Cincinnati Reds, who make quite a hit with the Phillies.

While Allen was re-emphasizing his ambition to leave Philadelphia Friday night, the Reds were blasting the Phillies 12-5 on the field.

Only last Sunday, the Reds unloaded for a 19-17 victory over the Phillies that put them in first place in the National League's West Division for the first time this season, and Friday night's triumph kept them there.

Cincinnati had started the night five percentage points ahead of Atlanta, which beat the New York Mets 1-0 in 10 innings after losing 4-1, and fell a half game and 10 points back.

San Francisco dropped 1 1/2 games back by losing a 4-3 decision to the red-hot St. Louis Cardinals.

Los Angeles climbed within a half game of the Giants with a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs on Bill Singer's two-hitter and Houston, 4 1/2 lengths behind, beat Montreal 5-2. In the other game, Pittsburgh hammered San Diego 7-1.

The Reds, running their record to 7-2 with 61 runs against the Phillies, unloaded five home runs and five-run innings in the sixth and seventh to bury Philadelphia, playing for the first time under interim

Manager George Myatt.

It was like batting practice as Lee May hit his 31st homer in the sixth and Johnny Bench followed with his 15th after Alex Johnson hit one in the first and Ted Savage connected in the third.

Pete Rose finished it off with a homer in the seventh as the Reds made it 10 victories in 12 games.

The Phillies got homers from Deron Johnson and Larry Hise, but Allen went hitless after blasting Bob Skinner earlier in the day and retorting that "all I want to do is get out of Philadelphia."

Skinner had resigned Thursday, saying that the Phillies front office had not backed him in meeting out punishment for the unpredictable Allen, who has jumped the team several times and then refused to play in an exhibition game Thursday.

The Braves, in contrast to the slugging Reds, were not much of a hit against the Mets, whose Jerry Koosman blanked them in the opener until Bob Tillman homered with two out in the ninth. Koosman, 9-7, gave only seven hits.

Ross Reed of the Braves and Gary Gentry of the Mets matched four-hitters for the first nine innings of the nightcap before the Braves broke through against Ron Taylor in the 10th on Felipe Alou's one-out single through a drawn in infield with the bases loaded.

The Giants fell before rookie right-hander Chuck Taylor, 4-1, who pitched a six-hitter and survived Willie McCovey's 35th homer in the ninth inning as the Cardinals won their 10th game in 12 outings.

The Cardinals jumped on Gaylord Perry, 14-8, for three runs in the second inning and Tim McCarver doubled in the decisive run in the eighth.

Willie Mays played right field for the Giants, with Bobby Bonds taking over his usual centerfield spot.

Singer, 14-7, didn't allow a hit until Don Kessinger singled with two out in the sixth inning for the Cubs. Jim Qualls got the other hit, a single, in the eighth, before the Cubs seven-game winning streak ended.

In the third inning Willie Crawford of the Dodgers scored from first base on a single and Glenn Beckert's throwing error. Cubs' Manager Leo Durocher argued that Crawford should not have been allowed to score and played the game under protest.

Norm Miller and Curt Blefary each drove in two runs for Houston and Jim Wynn hit his 26th homer behind Don Wilson 14-7, and Wade Blasingame as the Astros ended a four-game losing streak.

Manny Sanguillen started three rallies with a single, double and triple, scored three runs and drove in one in Pittsburgh's victory. Bob Veale, 7-11, staggered through 11 hits to hand San Diego its 11th defeat in 12 games.

North Wins Prep Grid Game, 16-8

By JOHN R. SKINNER
Associated Press Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A halftime decision to test one segment of the South's defensive armor proved the key to a 16-8 victory for the North Friday night in the 24th annual high school football all-star game.

"We just decided to run to the left," Head North Coach Ron Chismar said. "Every play but two went to the left."

Tackles Fred Pisanelli of Warren Western Reserve and Jon Brandeberry of Canton McKinley and guard George Whitfield of Massillon were given the main credit by Chismar for consistently opening up big holes for backs Rick Galbos of Mentor and Doug Root of Cuyahoga Falls.

Laurelville Wins County Minor Tourney

A Tri-County Little League Minor Tourney was held Saturday at the Fairgrounds. Four teams participated in the event in which Laurelville took top honors.

The first tilt saw the Circleville All-Stars pitted against Kingston. Kingston won the five inning game.

The second game was a match between Pickaway and Laurelville. Mike Hart was Laurelville's winning hurler. He whiffed eight, walked six and allowed three hits.

The local All-Stars played the Pickaway team in the consolation tilt, but lost again. Pickaway placed third in the event.

In the winners tilt, Laurelville dumped Kingston to take first place in the meet. The winning hurler was Moore. He fanned four and allowed seven bases on balls while giving up four hits.

The losing moundman was Mike Chaffin. Chaffin gave up ten hits and allowed two walks while striking out three in the 10-8 ball game.

The drawing of teams will be held at 7 p.m. August 19 at the Armo Barracks Building, Route 35 South.

For information regarding the tourney contact Chester Estep, 902 Pearl Street, Washington C.H. 43160 or phone 335-1985.

U.S. Scores Victory
SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (AP) — The United States scored a come-from-behind victory over Britain Friday to win the Palma team match at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet. The Americans scored 4,058 out of a possible 4,500 at 1,000 yards to Britain's 4,040.

Ed Moehling Shares Lead In Golf Clash

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Ed Moehling, who once left the tour "with a credit card and a nickel," used the wind and a wedge to climb into a share of the top spot in the $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Moehling, a 28-year-old who dropped off the tour when he ran out of money in 1963, fired a three-under-par 69 Friday and moved into a tie for the 36-hole lead with Fred Marti, a long-time also-ran.

Each had a 141, three under par for 63 holes on the 7,075-yard North Shore Country Club course, a layout made double tough by the high, gusty winds that have plagued the event for two days.

Marti, a tall, rangy blond, had a second round 70 that he described as "kind of uneventful."

One stroke back in this event that was passed up by most of the great names of the game were four players tied at 142. They were rookie pro John Miller who slipped to a 74. Steve Opperman and South African Allan Henning, each 73, and Peter Townsend of England, the first round leader who went to a 75.

South Africa's Gary Player had a 70 and headed a group of six at 143. The others were Phil Rodgers and Rocky Thompson, each 71. Jerry Abbott, 72, and Jim Wiechers and Bob Lunn, each 73.

Arnold Palmer rallied with a 71 for 147, but was well back defending champion Dave Stockton shot a 73 for 150 and failed to make the cut for the final two rounds. It took a score of 149 to make it.

Moehling, who plays out of Golf, Ill., has made only $166.67 on the tour this year, and shot a 74 in Monday's qualifying round to make it into this one.

"There's a mental adjustment you have to make when you're qualifying," he said. "You have to practice it like you practice your shots. You have to talk to yourself a lot."

WCH Invitational Tourney Scheduled
The Washington C. H. double elimination invitational slo-pitch tournament is scheduled to start August 22 this year.

A $30 entry fee is required by all teams that wish to enter the tourney. All baseballs will be furnished and three trophies will be awarded.

The drawing of teams will be held at 7 p.m. August 19 at the Armo Barracks Building, Route 35 South.

For information regarding the tourney contact Chester Estep, 902 Pearl Street, Washington C.H. 43160 or phone 335-1985.

Baseball Correction
In the Circle Auto Parts vs K of C Black Division title game, it was reported that Mike Wickline tagged a homer. Chuck Cave hit the homer instead of Wickline.

Bingman Drugs Dumps Legion In Major Tilt
Bingman Drugs upset the Major league leaders last night dumping American Legion, 5-1.

Legion and the Elks now lead the division with 10-4 records. The Elks lost Thursday night to last place Coke and Bingman's is in fifth place in the standings. The two first place teams meet Monday night in the last Major league tilt of the season.

All the scoring in the game came in the third inning. The Legion squad marked their only run on four hits and two errors. The Bingman's team tapped five for five runs and they committed one error.

Rock Edgington tagged a double for the winners only extra base hit of the tilt. Jeff Hawks managed a double for the losers.

HAWKS started on the hill for the league leaders. He whiffed five and gave up two bases on balls while allowing five hits.

Todd Mancini pitched the first part of the Bingman's upset. He gave up three bases on balls and three hits before Terry Brown had to help him out. Brown fanned eight and allowed two walks and one hit.

Stanhope, Rogers Win At Speedway
Bob Stanhope captured the modified feature race at Salt-creek Valley Speedway Friday and John Rogers swept to a victory in the stock car feature.

Mike Wilson was second in the modified event, Roy Pierce third, Avery Conley four, Paul Cohan fifth and Ralph Thomas sixth.

In the stock event, Dick French was second, Ernie Adams third, Merle Pierce fourth, John Strawser fifth and Fred Payne sixth.

Avery Conley was the fastest qualifier in the modified race and Tom Congrove the fastest for the straight stocks. Paul Cohan won the helmet dash.

Larry Weaver won the first heat of stock racing. Merle Pierce was second and Ernie Adams third. Roy Pierce topped the second heat of the program, a modified event, and Jim Davis was second and Ray Hart third.

Tom Congrove was the third heat winner. Roy McMillan was second and Steve Walker third.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington walloped Seattle 10-3. California edged Boston 7-6. Cleveland dropped Kansas City 7-4 and Detroit swept a doubleheader from Chicago, 7-3 and 9-7.

Minnesota carried a 5-2 lead into the ninth against the Orioles but Andy Etchebarren opened with a single and one out later, Don Buford also singled. Paul Blair walked to load the bases and Frank Robinson singled two runs home.

Powell followed with another single, tying the score and sending Frank Robinson to third. Then, with a 1-1 count on Brooks Robinson, Powell took off for second and stole the base on the second strike.

Martin decided to waste the 1-2 count and walk Robinson intentionally to set up the possible double play. But Johnson's sacrifice fly crossed the strategy and won it for the Orioles.

Downing, burdened by arm

trouble for most of the last two seasons, retired the first 12 Oakland batters he faced and allowed only four singles. It was only his second start of the year and he was locked in a scoreless duel with Jim "Catfish" Hunter until the seventh.

Then Horace Clarke poked a two-run single to put New York on top and rookie catcher Thurmon Munson, who had his first major league hit in the seventh, singled two more across in the next inning.

Oakland tied the opener in the ninth inning on a pinch double by Ted Kubiak and won it an inning later with singles by Rick Monday, Dick Green and Bert Campaneris and Larry Haney's double.

Washington packed 10 runs into the sixth and seventh innings to thump Seattle. Hank Allen had three hits for the Senators, who roared from behind with four runs in the sixth inning and six more in the seventh.

Aurelio Rodriguez doubled home two runs in the ninth inning, pulling California past Boston. Jim Fregosi opened the inning with a single and Bubba Morton walked in front of Rodriguez' hit. Carl Yastrzemski tagged his 30th homer and the Red Sox carried a 6-5 lead into the ninth.

Duke Sims, given a second chance when third baseman Paul Schaal dropped his pop foul, unloaded a three-run first inning homer that started Cleveland toward its victory over Kansas City. Joe Foy homered for the Royals.

Willie Horton hammered a three-run homer in the first inning and Bill Freehan chased home two more with a triple in the third, moving Detroit past Chicago in the first game of the doubleheader.

Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning decided the nightcap.

Buffalo Bills Top Redskins; Rams Beat Dallas Cowboys

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Vince Lombardi probably would have blown his top in his coaching days at Green Bay if the National Football League Packers had lost to an American League club, even in an exhibition game.

At Buffalo, N.Y. Friday night, he probably just kept muttering to himself as the Buffalo Bills of the AFL whipped his new team, the Washington Redskins, 21-17.

It was the first time a Lombardi-coached team has ever lost to an AFL club. His Packers routed Kansas City and Oakland in the first two Super Bowl games.

The Buffalo-Washington game was one of two games Friday that opened a 12-game weekend exhibition slate in pro football. In the other, the Rams downed the Dallas Cowboys in Los Angeles 24-17.

Eight games are scheduled

for tonight with the remaining two for Sunday.

In the absence of O. J. Simpson, the Bills' No. 1 draft choice who has yet to sign a contract, Max Anderson led the Buffalo attack. He carried the ball 10 times for 59 yards and set up the winning touchdown in the last period by snaring a 25-yard pass from Tom Flores on the Washington one.

The Bills were penalized five yards to the six, but then Flores threw the winning TD to Haven Moses. This erased a 17-14 Redskins lead gained on two touchdown passes by Sonny Jurgensen. One was a 12-yarder to Pat Richter, the other a 19-yarder to Jerry Smith.

The largest crowd in 10 years, 87,381, watched the Rams beat the Cowboys in the annual Los Angeles Times Charity game.

An 85-yard touchdown pass play from Roman Gabriel to Wendell Tucker and a blocked punt recovery for another TD gave the Rams a 24-3 lead in the third period, a sufficient cushion to offstage the Cowboys' two touchdowns in the last period.

Craig Morton, taking over at quarterback for the retired Don Meredith, threw two 68-yard touchdown passes for the late Dallas scores. One was to Bob Hayes, the other to Lance Rentzel.

Six inter-league exhibitions, Detroit at Kansas City, Baltimore at Oakland, Chicago at Miami, Denver at Minnesota, New Orleans at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis, feature tonight's schedule.

In the others, Atlanta plays Philadelphia at Portland, Ore. and the New York Giants are at Green Bay.

Bingman Drugs Dumps Legion In Major Tilt

Bingman Drugs upset the Major league leaders last night dumping American Legion, 5-1.

Legion and the Elks now lead the division with 10-4 records. The Elks lost Thursday night to last place Coke and Bingman's is in fifth place in the standings. The two first place teams meet Monday night in the last Major league tilt of the season.

All the scoring in the game came in the third inning. The Legion squad marked their only run on four hits and two errors. The Bingman's team tapped five for five runs and they committed one error.

Rock Edgington tagged a double for the winners only extra base hit of the tilt. Jeff Hawks managed a double for the losers.

HAWKS started on the hill for the league leaders. He whiffed five and gave up two bases on balls while allowing five hits.

Todd Mancini pitched the first part of the Bingman's upset. He gave up three bases on balls and three hits before Terry Brown had to help him out. Brown fanned eight and allowed two walks and one hit.

Stanhope, Rogers Win At Speedway
Bob Stanhope captured the modified feature race at Salt-creek Valley Speedway Friday and John Rogers swept to a victory in the stock car feature.

Mike Wilson was second in the modified event, Roy Pierce third, Avery Conley four, Paul Cohan fifth and Ralph Thomas sixth.

In the stock event, Dick French was second, Ernie Adams third, Merle Pierce fourth, John Strawser fifth and Fred Payne sixth.

Avery Conley was the fastest qualifier in the modified race and Tom Congrove the fastest for the straight stocks. Paul Cohan won the helmet dash.

Larry Weaver won the first heat of stock racing. Merle Pierce was second and Ernie Adams third. Roy Pierce topped the second heat of the program, a modified event, and Jim Davis was second and Ray Hart third.

Tom Congrove was the third heat winner. Roy McMillan was second and Steve Walker third.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington walloped Seattle 10-3. California edged Boston 7-6. Cleveland dropped Kansas City 7-4 and Detroit swept a doubleheader from Chicago, 7-3 and 9-7.

Minnesota carried a 5-2 lead into the ninth against the Orioles but Andy Etchebarren opened with a single and one out later, Don Buford also singled. Paul Blair walked to load the bases and Frank Robinson singled two runs home.

Powell followed with another single, tying the score and sending Frank Robinson to third. Then, with a 1-1 count on Brooks Robinson, Powell took off for second and stole the base on the second strike.

Martin decided to waste the 1-2 count and walk Robinson intentionally to set up the possible double play. But Johnson's sacrifice fly crossed the strategy and won it for the Orioles.

Mike Zimmerman Scores Win In Ohio Golf Tourney

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — "I hit super all week. But I was very fortunate."

That was the way young Mike Zimmerman of Dayton summed up his convincing triumph in the Ohio Public Golfers tournament Friday.

Zimmerman, a 23-year-old time study analyst, rode a final round one-under-par 70 to a smashing six-stroke victory over Daytonian Walter Law.

His rounds of 69-67-73-70-279 were six-under for the distance on the 6,249-yard Community Golf Course. Law, a 28-year-old salesman, finished with a 72 for a 285 total.

Zimmerman started the final day on his home course with a comfortable four-stroke advantage over Law. But a birdie by Law on the second hole and bogeys by Zimmerman on Nos. 2 and 3 cut the deficit to one shot.

"I knew my lead was cut but it didn't bother me much," Zimmerman said. "I was more shaky Thursday when I shot a 73. Even though I three-putted those two bogey holes, I felt my stroke was good."

And the 6-foot-2, 190-pound power hitter showed he could withstand the pressure. He birdied Nos. 6, 10, 13 and 14 before taking another bogey on No. 15 when he hit into a trap.

Law missed a two-foot putt on No. 5 for a bogey and never recovered. By the 10th hole, Zimmerman had his four-shot lead again and cruised home.

"This is the biggest tournament I've ever won," he said proudly. Zimmerman came close to winning the public links crown in 1967 when he finished third and last year when he came in tied for fourth.

Third National Upsets VFW; Wins In Pony Action

The Third National Bank upset second seeded VFW in the only Pony League action last night, 15-14.

Third National now has a 6-5 record for the year. VFW has seven wins and five losses.

Jeff Wallis tagged a homer for the losers and Keith Hoop hit two doubles.

For the winning Third Bank team, Allan Hawks tapped a double while Chris Kline and John Walker also hit two basers.

KLINE was the winning hurler for the Bankers. He went the whole tilt fanning two and giving up 22 hits.

Raina Lobell Wins At Scioto

Raina Lobell, a 4-year-old bay mare owned by Donna Jean Anderson, Route 4, added the winner's share of the $2,000 purse of the eight race at Scioto Downs to her lifetime earnings Friday.

Jim Mace was in the sulky when the pacer crossed the finish line 1 1/4 lengths ahead of Fishing Lady.

Trained by Jim Arledge of Circleville, Raina Lobell returned $16.40, $8.80 and $5.40 at the pari mutuel windows. Time of the mile was 2:04.3-5.

Orioles, Yankees Score Wins

Powell stole a base—his first of the season—forcing Twins' Manager Billy Martin to waste a 1-2 count on Brooks Robinson and walk him instead in the ninth inning Friday night. Dave Johnson followed with the sacrifice fly that gave the Orioles a comeback 6-5 victory over the Twins.

Downing, rescued from the pitching scrap heap, responded with a four-hit shutout, pitching the Yankees' past Oakland 5-0 in the second game of a twin-night doubleheader after the A's had rallied to take the opener 5-3 in 10 innings.

Oakland's split and the Twins' loss left the A's 1 1/2 games off Minnesota's pace in the tight West race.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington walloped Seattle 10-3. California edged Boston 7-6. Cleveland dropped Kansas City 7-4 and Detroit swept a doubleheader from Chicago, 7-3 and 9-7.

Minnesota carried a 5-2 lead into the ninth against the Orioles but Andy Etchebarren opened with a single and one out later, Don Buford also singled. Paul Blair walked to load the bases and Frank Robinson singled two runs home.

Oilers Down Dairy, 19-8

Circleville Oil defeated Blue Ribbon Dairy, 19-8, Friday in a Little League Minor game in the Circleville Youth Baseball program.

Jackie Moore was the winning pitcher, walking four, fanning six and allowing 14 hits.

Byron Edgington hit a homerun for the winners. Mike Reeser cracked two triples in four trips. Jackie Moore had three hits, including a double. Scott Bauer had a single and a double. Denny Strawser had three hits, including a double. Boltenhouse and Carroll had four hits each, all singles.

For the losers, Andy Smith was three for three at the plate, with a single, a double and a triple. Allen hit a double. Smith was the losing pitcher. He was touched for 23 hits, walked nine and fanned three.

Steamin Missile Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Steamin Missile toured the mile in 2:02.3-5 Friday night to win the featured $6,000 invitational trot at Scioto Downs and pay $6.40, $3 and $2.40.

Lil Rodney returned $2.80 and $2.20 for place, while Little Master was worth $2.60 for show.

The 2-5 daily double paid $110.20 and the 4-5 quinella returned $132.

A crowd of 6,284 bet $274,791.

Hints Of Future Merger Between ABA, NBA Heard

NEW YORK (AP) — The established National Basketball Association has taken official cognizance of its young rival, the American Basketball Association.

This was the interpretation given today to the joint announcement of Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the 24-year-old

LPGA Golf Logjam To Break Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The logjam at the top was expected to break today as 56 pros and seven amateurs headed into the second round of the LPGA $20,000 Springfield Open Golf Tournament.

"I'll take two more 71s, especially if the wind keeps blowing," said Sandra Spuzich, after she tied three of her rivals for the first round lead.

Miss Spuzich, Muriel Lindstrom Breer, Sharon Miller and Marlene Hagge all turned in one-under-par 71s on the 6,480-yard Northwood Hills Country Club layout.

Miss Spuzich, who won her first tournament of the year last weekend with a victory in the Buckeye Savings Invitational at Cincinnati, said "I'm hitting the ball the same but it's falling in the hole a little better."

She picked up an eagle on the 520-yard No. 7 when she reached the green in two and sank a 15-foot putt. But bogeys on Nos. 13 and 14 stymied her bid for sole possession of the lead.

Miss Hagge, who started fast with three straight birds, stumbled on No. 17 when she three-putted from five feet for a double bogey.

Mike Paul Leads Tribe Over Royals

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mike Paul doesn't mind the work, but after making four relief appearances in four days for the Cleveland Indians he says he's ready for a rest.

However, he says he could "possibly" make a brief appearance today if Manager Alvin Dark maybe wanted to "get one left handed batter out."

The young southpaw worked 5 2-3 innings Friday night and got credit for the victory as the Indians came from behind for a 7-4 win over the Kansas City Royals.

CHS MAJORETTES — The Circleville High School marching band will be led on the field this year by this talented group of majorettes. They are, from the left, Crystal Wilson, Chris Edstrom, majorettes; Connie Rowland, drum majorette; Cindy Barnhill, head majorette; and Kim Graham, majorette. Not present for the photo were Christie Dresbach and Connie Downing. The group attended majorette camp at the University of Pennsylvania at Indiana, Pa., learning routines and basic drills for marching. William O'Neil, CHS band director, has announced that daily band practice sessions begin Aug. 18.

President's Welfare Plan Gains Praise, Guarded Hope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials from the federal to local levels reacted to President Nixon's welfare reform message principally with a mixture of praise and guarded hope.

Most praise for the welfare revamping and revenue-sharing proposals outlined by the President in a televised speech Friday night came from Republicans.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, called it "the most enlightened, progressive and realistic statement of policy on welfare from any president in recent history."

Opposition came from both parties, but principally from the big population areas. It was marked more by skepticism than criticism.

House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said he doubted Congress would go along with a no-strings distribution of federal money to the states in a revenue-sharing program.

Boston Mayor Kevin White, a Democrat elected on a nonpartisan ticket, asserted, "The big northern cities will not benefit."

"To be frank," said Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., "I think it is a poor substitute for effective inflation control and full employment at decent wages."

Even so, Gore added, "consideration of any reform is imperative—even radical measures. Millions of people, even those steadily employed, simply cannot make ends meet."

Ohio's Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes said Nixon "has recognized that our present welfare system is antiquated and obsolete."

Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington, also a Republican and chief spokesman for the nation's governors on revenue-sharing matters, said Nixon's proposal "could ultimately be more dramatic in its impact on state and local government than any federal fiscal action ever taken."

"For the first time since the 1930s," said Senate Republican Whip Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, "the emphasis has shifted from custodial to remedial programs."

Trudeau Hit By Papers, Banana Peel

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was pelted with papers and a banana peel Friday night by an angry crowd of war protesters that smashed a window and set a small fire at the Army where he was speaking.

Chanting "Trudeau is a traitor," about 300 placard-carrying demonstrators pounded on the army doors shortly after the prime minister entered the building to attend a fund-raising dinner.

Trudeau went inside surrounded by security men after he was unsuccessful in an attempt to speak to the demonstrators from the top of a sound truck.

The demonstrators had gathered in front of the army long before Trudeau arrived, carrying placards * condemning "Canadian complicity" in the Vietnam war.

No one was arrested.

Israeli Peace Pilot Buys New Vessel

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Israeli peace pilot Abie Nathan says he has purchased a former Dutch coastal vessel for $44,000 and will go ahead with plans to make it a floating radio station to broadcast peace messages off the coasts of Arab countries and Israel.

The vessel, named Silo, will be christened "Voice of Peace." Nathan said the ship will sail to the United States next week where radio equipment will be installed.

50 Policemen Quiet Singers

FLING, Wales (AP) — It took 50 policemen to quiet a crowd of Welsh hymn singers who became so incensed over a question of language that they started throwing lighted cigarettes at each other Friday night.

The midnight battle erupted among participants in the National Eisteddfod Music Festival —over whether to sing the hymns in Welsh or in English.

Two thousand people packed the town square when the cigarettes began flying. Police linked arms and moved in. The fracas was stopped after 90 minutes and nine persons were arrested.

Freak Accident Fatal To 4-Month-Old Girl

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 4-month-old girl fell out of a grocery cart and was crushed to death Friday by a car that had been set in motion by a 3-year-old child.

Jami Hagendorn, the daughter of Glenda Hagendorn, 20, of suburban Reading fell as her mother attempted to remove her from the cart and put her in the auto, but tried to stop the car when it began to roll, police said.

Body Is Recovered From Miami River

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The body of a 24-year-old man from near Hamilton was recovered from the Great Miami River Friday after he waded into the water for a fishing lure and went underwater.

Rolfie Manley Jr. had been fishing with a 3-year-old son and a 14-year-old nephew who could not swim.

The Central Office for the Division will be at the Ohio Department of Agriculture Laboratory Complex, Reynoldsburg, Ohio. The Administrative offices will be located in the Department Headquarters at 65 South Front Street, Columbus.

Liquor License Granted To Moose Lodge

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced that a license to sell beer, wine or spirituous liquor by the glass until 1 a.m. has been granted to the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge, 214 W. Water St.

The license was granted Thursday. Circleville City Council had passed a resolution of objection to issuance of the license during Tuesday's session.

In explaining issuance of the license, Donald D. Cook director of the department of liquor control said, "If there is an opening for a permit of the type applied for, and if we find in our investigation that the applicant and the intended premises meet all qualifications, the permit will be issued. We are required by law to issue under those circumstances."

A petition circulated and signed by residents of the area objecting to issuance of the license had been presented to council at its July 15 meeting.

Air Pollution Survey Under Way In Area

Resources Research Inc. of Cincinnati a subsidiary of TRW Inc., is engaged in an area air pollution survey in Pickaway County.

The firm has been employed by PPG Industries as a result of a petition circulated by residents of Logan Elm Village, Jefferson Addition and the area objecting to odors allegedly coming from the PPG resin plant.

RRI is to determine the problem and make recommendations for corrective measures.

The firm has been recommended by the Ohio State Air Pollution Control Board.

Fayette Court Enters Dump Controversy

Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman issued an injunction Friday to halt the closing of the Fayette County landfill.

The action was requested by Fayette County commissioners when Kenneth Walters, land owner of the landfill operation, closed the road to the landfill Wednesday.

A 15-acre tract of Walter's land is leased by the commissioners for a landfill operation, the only one in Fayette County which also serves some residents of Madison and Green counties.

Walters closed the land Wednesday night after he expressed dissatisfaction with the landfill operation. He said not only are the landfill operators not covering garbage each night as required by law, but they are improperly covering some refuse causing the land to become worthless.

He drove a bulldozer across the access road and dug a trench across the road which prevents ingress to the landfill.

The land owner also contends that the land lease was broken by commissioners when they failed to pay the rental fee in January, as contracted. Commissioners blame a new bookkeeping method at the courthouse for the oversight.

Meantime, trucks laden with refuse are lined up along the access road and refuse is piling up in Fayette County.

Wet Roads Contributing Factor In Injury Mishaps

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated three automobile accidents today, two of them involving injuries to three persons.

Shortly before 10 a.m., Donald L. Draise, 16, Route 1, Frankfort, lost control of the car he was driving on Route 316 near Darbyville.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Draise skidded on wet pavement as he entered a slight curve in the road. The car hit a utility pole, demolishing the front end.

Draise sustained a leg injury. Bradley Kneec, 17, Williamsport, sustained possible rib injuries and lacerations. He was a passenger in the car. Deputy Hoover said a witness stated the car was traveling at about 40 miles per hour when it started skidding. The deputy indicated that no citation would be issued because of the wet road conditions.

The other injury accident occurred on Route 62 near Derby.

Three cars were involved. Taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, was Mrs. Mildred Whiteside, Route 2, Orient. She suffered back and neck injuries in the collision.

Deputy Bill Dountz said that Mrs. Whiteside pulled from Route 762 onto Route 62 into the path of a car driven by Gary Lee Myers, 27, Grove City.

Ashville Sets Pre-School Clinic

A pre-school clinic will be held at Ashville Elementary School Aug. 18 and 19 for all children entering the first grade this year.

All children north of Ashville will attend the clinic 9 to 11 a.m. Aug. 18. All children in South Bloomfield, Little Walnut and Ashville will attend the clinic 9 to 11 a.m. Aug. 19.

Parents of the children are asked to bring birth certificates and shot records. Children must be six years old on or before Sept. 30 to enter the first grade.

Hints Of Future Merger Between ABA, NBA Heard

NEW YORK (AP) — The established National Basketball Association has taken official cognizance of its young rival, the American Basketball Association.

This was the interpretation given today to the joint announcement of Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the 24-year-old

NBA, and James Gardner, president of the 2-year-old ABA, that discussions have been held that "ultimately might lead to a merger."

The announcement Friday said that Kennedy and Gardner "and their attorneys have begun exploring the possibility of cooperative arrangements between the two basketball leagues. The form of such arrangements has not been agreed upon, but it is hoped that they will be shaped to conform to the needs of the various cities in the leagues as well as to any applicable law."

The stage thus is set for a possible repetition of what happened in pro football when the old NFL and its young rival, the AFL, merged.

"As far as I'm concerned, there'll be nothing further done at this time," Kennedy said. "We talked about several possibilities that ultimately might lead to a merger."

Kennedy said the discussions, which confirmed a report last week by Paul Caruso, attorney for the Los Angeles ABA club, had been held with three club owners of the NBA and three owners from the ABA.

He identified them as Ned Irish of the New York Knicks, Sam Schulman of Seattle and Richard Block of Phoenix for the NBA, and Gardner, Ray Boe of the New York Mets and Joseph Gear of Dallas for the ABA. Gardner also heads the Carolina ABA Cougars.

Miss Spuzich, who won her first tournament of the year last weekend with a victory in the Buckeye Savings Invitational at Cincinnati, said "I'm hitting the ball the same but it's falling in the hole a little better."

She picked up an eagle on the 520-yard No. 7 when she reached the green in two and sank a 15-foot putt. But bogeys on Nos. 13 and 14 stymied her bid for sole possession of the lead.

Miss Hagge, who started fast with three straight birds, stumbled on No. 17 when she three-putted from five feet for a double bogey.

LPGA Golf Logjam To Break Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The logjam at the top was expected to break today as 56 pros and seven amateurs headed into the second round of the LPGA $20,000 Springfield Open Golf Tournament.

"I'll take two more 71s, especially if the wind keeps blowing," said Sandra Spuzich, after she tied three of her rivals for the first round lead.

Miss Spuzich, Muriel Lindstrom Breer, Sharon Miller and Marlene Hagge all turned in one-under-par 71s on the 6,480-yard Northwood Hills Country Club layout.

Judy Heldman Set For Wightman Cup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — If you start first you have a chance to win first, Julie Heldman says confidently.

And despite the fact that Miss Heldman never has played a Wightman cup match, she "won the luck of the draw" and was scheduled to meet Britain's Virginia Wade today in the opening singles match of the 41st annual international tournament.

The tournament is being held at Harold T. Clark Stadium in suburban Cleveland Heights.

Mike Paul doesn't mind the work, but after making four relief appearances in four days for the Cleveland Indians he says he's ready for a rest.

However, he says he could "possibly" make a brief appearance today if Manager Alvin Dark maybe wanted to "get one left handed batter out."

The young southpaw worked 5 2-3 innings Friday night and got credit for the victory as the Indians came from behind for a 7-4 win over the Kansas City Royals.

The Central Office for the Division will be at the Ohio Department of Agriculture Laboratory Complex, Reynoldsburg, Ohio. The Administrative offices will be located in the Department Headquarters at 65 South Front Street, Columbus.

Liquor License Granted To Moose Lodge

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced that a license to sell beer, wine or spirituous liquor by the glass until 1 a.m. has been granted to the Local Order of Moose Lodge, 214 W. Water St.

The license was granted Thursday. Circleville City Council had passed a resolution of objection to issuance of the license during Tuesday's session.

In explaining issuance of the license, Donald D. Cook director of the department of liquor control said, "If there is an opening for a permit of the type applied for, and if we find in our investigation that the applicant and the intended premises meet all qualifications, the permit will be issued. We are required by law to issue under those circumstances."

A petition circulated and signed by residents of the area objecting to issuance of the license had been presented to council at its July 15 meeting.

President's Welfare Plan Gains Praise, Guarded Hope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials from the federal to local levels reacted to President Nixon's welfare reform message principally with a mixture of praise and guarded hope.

Most praise for the welfare revamping and revenue-sharing proposals outlined by the President in a televised speech Friday night came from Republicans.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, called it "the most enlightened, progressive and realistic statement of policy on welfare from any president in recent history."

Opposition came from both parties, but principally from the big population areas. It was marked more by skepticism than criticism.

House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said he doubted Congress would go along with a no-strings distribution of federal money to the states in a revenue-sharing program.

Boston Mayor Kevin White, a Democrat elected on a nonpartisan ticket, asserted, "The big northern cities will not benefit." "To be frank," said Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., "I think it is a poor substitute for effective inflation control and full employment at decent wages."

Even so, Gore added, "consideration of any reform is imperative—even radical measures. Millions of people, even those steadily employed, simply cannot make ends meet."

Ohio's Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes said Nixon "has recognized that our present welfare system is antiquated and obsolete."

Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington, also a Republican and chief spokesman for the nation's governors on revenue-sharing matters, said Nixon's proposal "could ultimately be more dramatic in its impact on state and local government than any federal fiscal action ever taken."

"For the first time since the 1930s," said Senate Republican Whip Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, "the emphasis has shifted from custodial to remedial programs."

Trudeau Hit By Papers, Banana Peel

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was pelted with papers and a banana peel Friday night by an angry crowd of war protesters that smashed a window and set a small fire at the Army where he was speaking.

Chanting "Trudeau is a traitor," about 300 placard-carrying demonstrators pounded on the army doors shortly after the prime minister entered the building to attend a fund-raising dinner.

Trudeau went inside surrounded by security men after he was unsuccessful in an attempt to speak to the demonstrators from the top of a sound truck.

The demonstrators had gathered in front of the army long before Trudeau arrived, carrying placards • condemning "Canadian complicity" in the Vietnam war.

No one was arrested.

Israeli Peace Pilot Buys New Vessel

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Israeli peace pilot Abie Nathan says he has purchased a former Dutch coastal vessel for $44,000 and will go ahead with plans to make it a floating radio station to broadcast peace messages off the coasts of Arab countries and Israel.

The vessel, named Silo, will be rechristened "Voice of Peace." Nathan said the ship will sail to the United States next week where radio equipment will be installed.

Air Pollution Survey Under Way In Area

Resources Research Inc. of Cincinnati a subsidiary of TRW Inc., is engaged in an area air pollution survey in Pickaway County.

The firm has been employed by PPG Industries as a result of a petition circulated by residents of Logan Elm Village, Jefferson Addition and the area objecting to odors allegedly coming from the PPG resin plant.

RRI is to determine the problem and make recommendations for corrective measures.

The firm has been recommended by the Ohio State Air Pollution Control Board.

Fayette Court Enters Dump Controversy

Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman issued an injunction Friday to halt the closing of the Fayette County landfill.

The action was requested by Fayette County commissioners when Kenneth Walters, land owner of the landfill operation, closed the road to the landfill Wednesday.

A 15-acre tract of Walter's land is leased by the commissioners for a landfill operation, the only one in Fayette County which also serves some residents of Madison and Green counties.

Walters closed the land Wednesday night after he expressed dissatisfaction with the landfill operation. He said not only are the landfill operators not covering garbage each night as required by law, but they are improperly covering some refuse causing the land to become worthless.

He drove a bulldozer across the access road and dug a trench across the road which prevents ingress to the landfill.

The land owner also contends that the land lease was broken by commissioners when they failed to pay the rental fee in January, as contracted. Commissioners blame a new bookkeeping method at the courthouse for the oversight.

Meantime, trucks laden with refuse are lined up along the access road and refuse is piling up in Fayette County.

Wet Roads Contributing Factor In Injury Mishaps

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated three automobile accidents today, two of them involving injuries to three persons.

Shortly before 10 a.m., Donald L. Draise, 16, Route 1, Frankfort, lost control of the car he was driving on Route 316 near Darbyville.

According to Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover, Draise skidded on wet pavement as he entered a slight curve in the road. The car hit a utility pole, demolishing the front end.

Draise sustained a leg injury. Bradley Kneec, 17, Williamsport, sustained possible rib injuries and lacerations. He was a passenger in the car. Deputy Hoover said a witness stated the car was traveling at about 40 miles per hour when it started skidding. The deputy indicated that no citation would be issued because of the wet road conditions.

The other injury accident occurred on Route 62 near Derby.

Three cars were involved. Taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, was Mrs. Mildred Whiteside, Route 2, Orient. She suffered back and neck injuries in the collision.

Deputy Bill Dountz said that Mrs. Whiteside pulled from Route 762 onto Route 62 into the path of a car driven by Gary Lee Myers, 27, Grove City.

Myers struck the Whiteside vehicle in the right rear, throwing it into a parked car operated by Oren W. Wyatt, 62, of Harrisburg. All cars were extensively damaged.
